6 U.S. NURSES MISSING, RED CROSS SAYS

Reports 4 of 10 Americans Rescued From Torpedoed Ship Are Well.

ADRIFT TEN DAYS

Wooster Woman Told Daughter Safe In Iceland After Maarsden Sinking.

WASHINGTON — Six of ten American Red Cross nurses aboard a British ship torpedoed two weeks ago enroute to England are missnig, the Red Cross reported today.

The other four were rescued four days ago "and are in good condition."

Reported missing are:

Phyllis L. Evans, Everett, Mass.; Dorothy C. Morse, Boston, Mass.; Nancy M. Pett, Detroit, Mich.; Helen Jurewicz, South Amboy, N. J.; Margaret I. Somerville, Catskill, N. Y.; Dorothea L. Koehn, 56 Mill street, Oshkosh, Wis.

The Red Cross said it was informed that the four nurses who were rescued had been adrift for about ten days when rescued, and expressed the possibility that the six missing nurses may have been picked up by some other ship, or still may be rescued.

Rachel M. St. Pierre, Amesbury, Mass.; Marion Blissett, Kalkaska, Mich.; Victoria M. Pelc, Auburn, N. Y.; and Lillian Pesnicak, Albany, N. Y.

The Red Cross said the nurses sailed on June 5 for the Red Cross Harvard hospital in southwestern England.

The Red Cross said that there still have been no "conclusive" reports concerning the safety of two other nurses of a contingent of 17 aboard the Dutch freighter Maarsden, torpedoed two weeks ago in the Atlantic. Still missing are Mrs. Ruth B. Breckenridge, Winston-Salen, N. C., and Washington, D. C., and Maxine C. Loomis, Springfield, Mass.

Report Wooster Nurse Safe in Iceland

WOOSTER — (INS) — Martha Reis, Wooster nurse rescued after the sinking of the Dutch steamship Maarsden, is safe in Iceland, the nurse's mother, Mrs. Jacob A. Reis, said today.

Mrs. Reis stated she received a telegram from the American Red Cross announcing the safe arrival of her daughter. Previous dispatches indicated she landed "probably in England."

GUEST OF FDR

Willkie Goes to White House To Discuss World Events.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican standard bearer, came to the White House today as a luncheon guest at President Roosevelt's invitation.

Presidential aides said the two men would indulge in "a general discussion of international affairs."

Willkie, who has been earnestly supporting the administration's foreign policy, last visited the White House shortly after his return from London when he came to Washington to testify before a congressional committee as to his findings abroad.

Shortage Of Steel Seen Causing New Type License Plates.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Harold Culbert, assistant registrar of motor vehicles, declared today that Ohio may be forced to manufacture its 1943 auto tags of plastics, due to the steel shortage.

Sufficient steel is on hand for the 1942 plates, he said.

U. S., British Navies to Co-operate In North Atlantic, Says Churchill

(By United Press)

LONDON — Prime Minister Winston Churchill told commons today that the British and United States navies may be expected to cooperate in the "most dangerous waters" of the North Atlantic as a result of American occupation of Iceland. He described the American occupation as designed to prevent Germany from acquiring "jumping off ground" to get to close grips with the United States.

Anglo-United States naval cooperation in the U-boat infested waters between the United States and Iceland, he hinted, would protect both American supplies destined for forces in the island and British convoys bound for England.

Churchill announced at the same time that the British forces at Iceland, estimated to number 80,000 men, would be retained there to co-operate closely with the

Farmers In County Join AAA Protest

Court Action Threatened on Federal Limits on Sale of Wheat.

A state-wide protest against the government wheat marketing quotas which limit the amount of wheat farmers can sell this year had spread to Richland county today.

Dozens of farmer protests have come to the county AAA office in Mansfield, Guy L. Taylor, county AAA chairman, said. He added, however, that he know of no attempt to organize county farmers against the quotas.

An Associated Press dispatch from Canton said Richland county farmers were represented last night at a mass meeting of 650 wheat growers near Canton. Taylor said he knew of no farmers from this area who attended the meeting to organize against the quotas.

One of the farmers who protested to AAA officials here threatened to bring court action to determine the legality of the wheat quotas which were voted May 31 by the nation's larger wheat growers, it was said.

"We find that much of the dissatisfaction with the quotas is due to a misunderstanding of their

CAPTURES FOUR AFTER CRASH

Deputy Arrests Quartet After Flight From Wrecked Car Reported Stolen.

Four colored youths who fled from a stolen car yesterday afternoon only 200 feet from the county jail were behind bars today after they were taken into custody single-handed by Deputy Sheriff J. R. Hetler late yesterday near the Park avenue east subway.

City and county authorities had searched the city area nearly three hours for the youths who abandoned an expensive car in front of the courthouse following a collision with a truck. The car was stolen in Kenton earlier in the afternoon, officers said.

Hetler saw the fugitives trying to hitch-hike a ride on U. S. Route 42 near the subway as he returned to work from home about 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

Suspecting they were the ones officers were looking for, he told them to get into the car. He said

Re-appoints East Liverpool Man To Industrial Commission.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Gov. John W. Bricker announced today the reappointment of Will T. Blake, East Liverpool Republican, to a six-year term as labor's representative on the state industrial commission.

In view of protests from eight officials of the Ohio federation of labor against Blake's reappointment, it was understood that the governor concluded their objections resulted from factional differences in the federation.

Prime Minister Asserts That English Troops Will Stay on Island.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The White House disclosed today that President Roosevelt had received an official dispatch from British Prime Minister Winston Churchill expressing concern over premature announcement of military movements such as the prediction of Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont. on July 3 that the United States was sending troops to Iceland.

DEFENDS 'LEAK'

Wheeler Says People Have Right to Know War Moves.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., said today that the American people have the "right to know every step that is being taken by the administration which tends to involve us in war."

This was his answer to White House charges that he permitted a "leak" of military information regarding U. S. occupation of Iceland—a move Wheeler branded as an administration attempt "to get us into a shooting war."

Wheeler had said last week that American forces would occupy Iceland begining about July 23. White House Secretary Stephen T. Early yesterday criticized Wheeler for having revealed that the move was imminent. President Roosevelt said the Wheeler case speaks for itself.

Richland County Red Cross Hires New Chapter Secretary

Richland county chapter of the Red Cross today had employed Miss Lenore Van Gundia of Upper Sandusky as executive secretary to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Gertrude B. English, who had served the chapter for 20 years.

Miss Van Gundia will come here from Wyandot county chapter where she has been executive secretary for three years. She is not a stranger in the Richland county chapter headquarters for it was here that she received a month's training under Mrs. English in 1938 upon completion of her work with the national chapter in Washington, D. C. She will assume her new post Aug. 1.

Recommendation that Miss Van Gundia be employed was made to the executive board by the finance committee headed by Mrs. George Draffan at the July board meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The recommendation was unanimously accepted, according to Milo W. Hieber, county chairman, who presided at the meeting.

ROOSEVELT TO ASK VAST NEW LEND FUNDS

Request Expected To Total Between Five and Six Billion Dollars.

WILL BE SUPPLEMENT

Secretary Says Data Will Be Given To Congress This Week.

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt disclosed today that he will ask congress this week for supplemental lend-lease, army, navy, and maritime commission appropriations, which congressional sources indicate may approximate $5,000,000,000 or $6,000,000,000.

Through his secretary, Stephen T. Early, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that two separate appropriation requests will be made:

1. Supplemental funds expanding the multi-billion dollar appropriations already approved for the army, navy and maritime commission.

2. Appropriations expected to extend materially the $7,000,000,000 originally appropriated for operation of the lend-lease program.

Early declined to discuss any figure for the anticipated requests, but said he had been reading newspaper stories predicting that the total would go as high as $5,000,000,000 for additional lend-lease funds.

"I think we can safely say that both requests will go to congress this week," Early said.

Mr. Roosevelt conferred with Budget Director Harold Smith, who placed before him virtually complete figures for the dual request which will drive appropriations for this year to levels without precedent in American history.

GET NUMBERS

New Selectees In County To Be Classified For Lottery.

Richland county selective service boards were scheduled to assign serial numbers today to the 483 county youths who registered July 1 for possible service in the army.

Acting under a national order to prepare for a second nationwide lottery within the next two weeks, the boards were to meet this afternoon or tonight to shuffle the new registration cards and number them.

Numbers will start at 1 again just as in the first assignment of numbers last October, board clerks said. After the lottery determines the order in which the new numbers will be called, the boards will insert the new numbers in the present registration lists at a ratio of the new total of registrants to the total of old registrants.

The entire procedure is expected to be completed by the end of July, and state draft officials predicted today that the first 21-year-old registrants probably will be called by late in August.

Two Battalions Slain; Germans Claim Advance

Berlin Asserts Two Soviet Towns Occupied

BULLETIN

BERLIN — (U.P.) — German troops were reported today by the official DNB news agency to have occupied the fortified Russian town of Salla, in former Finnish territory near the Finnish-Russian border on the Arctic front.

(By United Press)

BERLIN — German armed forces were reported by the official news agency today to have occupied the Russian town of Ostrov on the road to Leningrad and to have made "a large territorial gain" in Bessarabia on the southern sector of the eastern front.

A Russian attempt to establish new defense positions on the Latvian-Soviet frontier (in the Ostrov sector, 190 miles south of Leningrad) was smashed and Russian troops were hurled back by the advancing Germans, the agency reported. The dispatch added that the Estonian towns of Fellin and Pernau (Prnov) also were occupied. Pernau is on the coast, about 100 miles north of the Latvian capital of Riga.

The high command did not make any specific claims regarding the eastern front were proceeding "successfully."

(Moscow dispatches said that the Russians had taken up new and strengthened positions in the Ostrov sector and that intensive patrol fighting had been in progress.)

Heavy battles had been reported in progress in the Ostrov sector, just inside the pre-war Soviet frontier and an outpost of the main Stalin line defenses, for several days. Ostrov is on the Railroad leading north and slightly eastward toward the big Russian industrial center of Leningrad.

But from Paskov, north of Ostrov, the railroad branches and runs eastward toward Moscow.

The news agency reported that 128 Soviet airplanes, including an entire squadron of

Moscow Says Crack Rumanian Troops Destroyed

BULLETIN

LONDON — (INS) — Arrangements have been completed by which Britain will supply Soviet Russia with "large quantities" of war materials, it was announced today. Some equipment already is en route, the ministry of economic warfare said.

(By International News Service)

MOSCOW—German troops hastily moved over from the western front and crack detachments of King Michael's Rumanian army are taking a terrific pounding under new Russian counter-offensives, the Soviet information bureau announced today.

A special communique dealing with operations in Bessarabia said:

"Soviet troops destroyed two battalions of a celebrated regiment of the Rumanian army—the king's own guard.

"The first battalion was entirely annihilated by machine-gun fire in attempting to cross the border.

"Three-quarters of the second battalion was wiped out and the remainder captured."

German troops are meeting with fierce opposition along the entire front and at some points Red forces are counter-attacking with the aid of the Soviet air force, it was said.

Prisoners taken in the Borisov sector indicate that large numbers of troops as well as gun batteries had been transferred from the western front. One German officer admitted he had recently been stationed in Cherbourg, it was said.

Soviet troops have inflicted heavy losses on German mechanized units west of Smolensk, the communique said, while near Lepel two German motorized regiments were wiped out. The German advance toward Kiev has been stopped entirely, it was said, but fierce fighting continues.

In the Polodsk region, 100 miles east of Dvinsk, Soviet forces were said to have hurled the Germans into a westward retreat after the

ARMISTICE: Says Vichy Army Asks Terms In Syria Battle

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Marking Britain's first major triumph on land since Italian resistance in Ethiopia and Somaliland collapsed, Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced today that Vichy French forces in war-torn Syria have asked for an armistice.

General Henri Fernand Dentz, high commissioner and commander-in-chief of Syria, has asked for discussion of terms leading to an armistice, Churchill said.

"We welcome these negotiations," he added, "and hope they may reach a speedy conclusion. Pending formal arrangements, military operations must, of course, continue with unabated vigor.

"I need hardly say how happy His Majesty's government will be to see the end of this distressing conflict, in which between 1,000 and 1,500 British, Australian and Indian soldiers have fallen, either, killed or wounded.

"These soldiers volunteered or joined the army to defend the real France. They fell under French bullets as the result of the lamentable confusion into which the affairs of so many good people in so many parts of the world were thrown by the victories of Hitler's armies."

The British triumph in Syria was the closest thing on record to a "blitz" victory for the empire. It was just a month ago that British and Free French forces swept across the border from Iraq and Palestine into Syria on the grounds that German troops, in the guise of

BLASTED: German Industries Fired By RAF Bombs In Night

(By United Press)

LONDON—British long-range bombers smashed at Germany's vital industries during the night, blasting railway yards at Hamm and Munster and factories at Bielefield where "great fires were started and much damage was done," the air ministry said today.

An important synthetic oil plant at Leuna, a few miles west of Leipzig, was reported riddled with "heavy bombs" and other planes were said to have struck at Haugesund, shipping off the north and west coasts of occupied France and an important airdrome in north France.

"The town and railway yards at Hamm were heavily attacked" the air ministry said. "A great weight of high explosives and incendiaries again were dropped on Munster and another force successfully attacked communications in the industrial town of Bielefield."

"Great fires were started and much damage was done to all these places," it was added.

"Another force," the air ministry reported, "struck deep into Germany and attacked an important synthetic oil plant at Leuna a few miles west of Leipzig and many direct hits were obtained with heavy bombs."

The air ministry said that seven

Curb on Horn-Blowing Will Reduce Accident Rate, Cleveland Judge Says

WHILE Mansfield was in the midst of a drive to curb unnecessary blaring of auto horns, Appellate Judge Lee E. Skeel, addressing an anti-noise drive in Cleveland, stated that a curb on noise and horn tooting will bring about a reduction in accidents.

Judge Skeel was in agreement with the convictions of George C. Kyle, Mansfield councilman, Frank Beverstock, Richland County Auto club secretary, Sheriff F. E. Robinson and Probate Judge S. H. Cramer who this week expressed approval of a proposed city ordinance making unnecessary horn blowing a misdemeanor punishable by fine.

"Without exception," Judge Skeel said, "where such laws have been effected, the accident rate has decreased."

Here are the reasons Judge Skeel gave for his statement:

The driver who relies on his horn also relies on plunging through a tight place. He drives more recklessly than he would without his horn.

"Noise is also medically harmful," the judge said. "It is revolting in public, in the home and in industry. Horn tooting is obviously impolite and denotes nervous split-second impatience. There is nothing good to be said for noise. It has never accomplished a thing for the advancement of humanity."

"Noise is a waste in these days of public emergency when every last iota of our physical and mental energies are needed in the great task of preparing for national defense and unity," he concluded.

Meanwhile in Mansfield Beverstock has sent to the American Automobile association headquarters in Washington, D. C., for copies of New York City and Memphis, Tenn., ordinances and any model ordinances the A. A. A. may favor.

When these return they will be turned over to Councilman Kyle to aid him in drafting an ordinance which will take into consideration the fine distinction between necessary and unnecessary blowing which Probate Judge Cramer has called for.

U. S., BRITISH SEA FORCES TO WORK TOGETHER

Churchill Says Navies Will Co-operate In Waters Near Iceland.

Churchill pointed out that the United States forces at Iceland would require provisioning and re-enforcing from time to time.

"These consignments of American supplies for the American forces on duty overseas for the purposes of the United States will of course, have to traverse the most dangerous waters and as we have a very large traffic constantly passing through these waters it may, I dare say, be found mutually advantageous in practice that the two navies involved should assist each other as far as convenient in that part of the waters," he said.

Emphasizing that United States occupation of Iceland was one of the most important events of the war, Churchill said it was carried out "in pursuance of the purely American policy of protecting the western hemisphere from the Nazi menace."

"Seizure of Iceland by Hitler would have been of the greatest advantage to him in bringing pressure to bear on the United States and Britain," he added.

In reply to a question whether the prime minister had any information regarding the situation at Iceland, Churchill replied:

"The military occupation of Iceland by forces of the United States is an event of first-rate political and strategic importance. In fact, it is one of the most important things that has happened since the war began.

The declared policy of the United States is in complete harmony with British interests, he said, announcing:

"We still propose to retain our army in Iceland and as British and United States forces will both have the same object in view, namely defense of Iceland, it seems likeliest they will co-operate closly and effectively in the resistance of any attempt by Hitler to gain a foothold."

Churchill said it "obviously would be foolish for the United States to have one plan for defending Iceland and for the British forces to have another."

"Collaboration for the common purpose," he continued, "however, raises no issue of principle and if any issue of principle arises it may safely be left to British and American naval, military and air force authorities, who will, I have no doubt, study each others convenience to the utmost."

He emphasized there was no British regret over United States occupation of Iceland. "In fact, I can go so far as to say in behalf of the house of commons as well as his majesty's government, we welcome it."

Call Iceland Move 'Stab in the Back'

BERLIN—(U.P.)—Germany complained today that President Roosevelt had stabbed it in the back by occupying Iceland at the moment it was fighting to free the world from the threat of bolshevism and emphasized that he would have to bear the responsibility for his action.

Nazi agencies of publicity said the president had brutally violated th. sovereignty of a small nation but said the thoughts of all civilized persons would be with Germany in its struggle against bolshevism in behalf of the world.

German comment on the occupation of Iceland was delayed but it came finally in a flood.

The first statement was that the American action was a purely aggressive one which indicated President Roosevelt's intention of establishing direct contact with the European war.

Discards 'Lines' of Hemisphere Defense

WASHINGTON —(A.P.)— President Roosevelt consigned hemispheric dividing lines to the discard today as controlling factors in matters affecting the defense of the United States.

As far as defense considerations were concerned, he took the position that it was impossible to draw an imaginary line between the western and eastern hemisphere and put a buoy on it.

There were points in one ocean or another, he said, which were not important to defense, but there were others just outside hemispheric boundaries which might be terribly important.

purpose, and when farmers learn what the quotas are doing for them they often change their minds," Taylor said.

At the Canton mass meeting last night, Edward E. Kennedy, vice president and national legislative agent of the Farmers Guild, said the farm protest could be taken to the courts or carried to congress.

"This isn't just a fight against a single tax," Kennedy said. "If the wheat penalty tax program is carried out without opposition, taxes will follow on every important crop or commodity produced on the farm."

The quotas impose a penalty of 49 cents a bushel on all wheat marketed in excess of a limit set by the U. S. department of agriculture. County and state AAA officials pointed out that the quotas were set up to prevent flooding of the grain market and a resulting drop in wheat prices.

Opposition to the restrictions and penalty has been particularly strong in Ohio which voted the proposal down by a wide margin in the May election. The favorable vote in western wheat states was enough to put the quotas into effect.

County Officials, Legion to Join In Flag Ceremonies

The American Legion will join Richland county officials Thursday night in dedicating the new flag pole at the northwest corner of the courthouse lawn.

Ceremonies are scheduled to get under way at 8 p. m. with Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston as the principal speaker. The Earle McVey post drum corps will participate in the program.

County commissioners erected the flag pole last Thursday in time for the Fourth of July holiday. They purchased an eight-by-twelve-foot flag which flies from the pole.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, said the dedication was delayed because of the holiday week-end and the fact that a number of the Legionnaires were out of the city.

The steel flag pole is 55 feet high. It was erected at a cost of $100.

tourists and "air specialists" had filtered into the country in huge numbers, constituting a direct threat to Britain's vital oil supplies and the Suez canal.

The quick victory was made possible by the use of speedy mechanized divisions and incessant air attacks on Syrian airports and supply zones.

Little organized resistance was encountered until the British reached Merj Ayoum, a strategically situated desert outpost. The British were driven back several times in this area, but at length Australian artillery battered down the defenses and the Allies swept on to Damascus.

Since then, the important cities of Beirut and Aleppo had been incessantly attacked by land, sea and air. Syrian capitulation had been considered inevitable for several days.

6 Crewmen Unhurt As Army Bombers Crash on Flight

MADERA, Cal. —(U.P.)— Under a full moon in a cloudless sky with perfect atmospheric conditions three of the army's light attack bombers, worth $75,000 each, lost their way on a routine flight last night and crashed.

Two were destroyed when their four crewmen abandoned them and took to their parachutes. The third was damaged severely in a crash landing. None of the six crewmen was more than shaken up.

Before their superior officers clamped the lid of official silence over them, the flying officers said simply that their planes ran out of gas while seeking the right route to Los Angeles, from Tuscon, Ariz.

27 that attacked a German airfield, were destroyed on Monday and Tuesday.

The Russians were said to have suffered heavy losses in men and material in Bessarabia.

The Russians employed strong tank forces in an attempt to hold up the German offensive, the agency said. The Russians were repulsed after hard fighting, it was added, and the German and Rumanian troops "pursued" the Russians.

Numerous machine guns were among the large quantity of war materials capture, it was said.

Nazi informants said that generally operations on the Russian front were proceeding "according to plan" but gave no details.

Military dispatches said there was intense fighting on almost the entire front.

(The German high command said on July 3 that the power of resistance of the Russian armies "now seems broken.")

The Germans, it was said, continued day and night to bomb the so-called Stalin line in an attempt to make a "decisive breach" which would permit the German forces to break up the Russian armies and then destroy isolated forces by concentrated artillery and airplane bombardment.

REDS POUND NEW GERMAN TROOPS

Nazis suffered heavy losses and left hundreds of dead on the battlefield.

Further south, around Lepel, the Red army was declared to have wiped out two motorized regiments, annihilating four heavy and light Nazi batteries and a considerable number of anti-tank guns.

During the night 62 German planes were said to have been destroyed while seven Russian machines were lost. Yesterday, the communique added 102 German planes were destroyed while the Soviets lost 10.

Thus, according to the Soviet figures, the score in planes lost for the past 24 hours stands: Russia 17 machines. Germany 164 machines.

The new claims of successes for the Red army followed an earlier communique which said powerful Russian counter-attacks were holding the German advance all along the line and that German and Rumanian troops had been driven back across the Pruth river "in disorder" on the Bessarabian front.

"During last night," said the new war bulletin, "important actions occurred in the directions of Polodsk, Lepel and Novograd Volinsk.

"In the direction of Polodsk heavy and stubborn fighting continued in the Borkovichi district, in the course of which our troops inflicted heavy losses on the Germans, who left hundreds of dead on the battlefield and fled in a westerly direction.

"In the direction of Novograd Volinsk the Soviets without respite continued intense fighting against enemy motorized troops and tanks, checking their advance towards the east.

"In the direction of Lepel the Soviets inflicted a heavy blow on the enemy, wiping out two motorized regiments and annihilating four heavy and light enemy batteries and a considerable quantity of anti-tank guns.

"During last night the air force in aerial encounters and on airdromes in the directions of Lepel, Borisov and Bobruisk destroyed 62 enemy planes. The Soviets lost seven.

"According to verified figures the air force yesterday destroyed 102 enemy planes while the Soviets lost 10."

The earlier communique reported heavy fighting throughout Tuesday in the Ostrov, Polodsk, Novograd, Volinsk and Belsti sectors.

(Editor's Note — The London Daily Express in a dispatch from Stockholm said it was learned the Russians wiped out thousands of German air-borne troops and hundreds of parachutists who landed in the Minsk zone.

"This account said it was estimated the Germans threw five divisions—between 40,000 and 60,000 men—in transport planes and gliders into the battle in the Minsk area, and that a large percentage are 'known to have been destroyed.")

(The London Daily Mail quoted the Stockholm radio as stating that the German losses were "tremendous" and that trainloads of wounded are pouring into Berlin.)

WHITNEY PLANS TO MANAGE FARM

Will Work Near Boston Following Release From Sing Sing.

OSSINING, N. Y.—(INS)—Richard Whitney, former president of the New York stock exchange, who has served three years and four months of his five-to-ten-year sentence for first degree larceny of Customers' Securities, today made plans to leave Sing Sing prison.

The state parole board granted him parole, effective Aug. 11, yesterday. With his wife, Gertrude, and his daughter, Alice, Whitney plans to go to a hamlet about 100 miles from Boston to manage a large dairy farm. Two conditions of his parole are that he cannot return to Wall street and that he have a job.

committee in addition to Mrs. Draffan were: Mrs. Cort Fish of Shelby; Charles Fox, John Finefrock, Allen Bond and Milo W. Hieber.

Miss Van Gundia's experience began at Heidelberg college where she specialized in Red Cross work and upon graduation in 1938 she immediately went to national Red Cross headquarters in Washington, D. C.

The new executive secretary first met with the Richland county finance committee two weeks ago after being previously interviewed by Mrs. Draffan and Hieber.

Her previous experience coupled with the fact that she had trained under Mrs. English were contributing factors to her employment as executive secretary of the Richland chapter, Hieber said.

Mrs. English resigned June 1 to accept appointment as executive secretary of the Wheeling, W. Va., Red Cross chapter.

DEFENSE PLAN TO CHANGE NYA PROGRAM HERE

Mansfield Executive Declares Non-Defense Projects Will Be Curtailed.

National defense will change the type of National Youth administration work, R. H. Thomas, Mansfield area executive, said today.

Projects of a non-defense nature will be curtailed and in time they will be greatly reduced. New projects, intended to train men for work in defense industries, will be inaugurated in their place, he stated.

NYA headquarters here said that in the past, work had been largely confined to projects such as the McMillen roadside park on U. S. Route 42 east of Mansfield, the Shelby sidewalk building work and the Shiloh school farm shop. In the future, NYA officials say, projects such as the farm shops will be continued, because they can be classified among defense projects. However, roadside parks and sidewalk projects will be curtailed.

The new projects will train young men from 18 to 25 years old in metal work, pattern making and food preparation. Workers will work 160 hours a month, part in classrooms and part in actual work experience projects.

Thomas doesn't know what the organization of the new plans will be, but says they will probably follow older NYA patterns which involve finding a sponsor for each individual project and planning each section of work piece-meal.

To help finish existing non-defense projects, Thomas said work hours would be increased to 80 from 70 hours and wages from $18.20 to $21 per month.

United Press reports from Washington today stated that $161,700 would be added to NYA expenditures in Ohio for July to help defense work, but Mansfield headquarters has not been notified yet how this money will be used or if Mansfield will get a share of it.

4 MORE HOMES

Building Permits Issued For New Residences Here.

Mansfield's home-building boom continued at a brisk pace today with permits being issued for the construction of four new homes at the cost of $20,900.

A. J. Frank and C. J. Burkhart were authorized to build a five-room residence at 226 Walter avenue for $5,200. Burkhart was also to build a five-room home for Charles C. Humbel at 237 Marlow road for $5,700.

Other building permits were issued to W. B. Dillinger and Edward Schmitt for a five-room home for $5,000 at 620 West Fourth street and to Laser and Walker for a similar home at 652 Winwood drive.

HOME-BUILDING FIRM STARTS

25 Houses, Financed Through FHA, To Be Built Under No Down Payment Plan.

Incorporation of a firm planning to build a number of low-cost homes in Mansfield was announced today by Frank Cave, Mansfield realtor.

Incorporation papers, naming Cave, M. L. Smith, Federal Housing financial agent here, and Ivan F. Bauer, contractor, were filed with Secretary of State John Sweeney in Columbus today.

Construction of 25 homes insured by FHA and which Mansfielders would be able to purchase on a rental basis without a down payment will comprise the firm's initial objective, Cave said.

He went on to explain that title to the properties would be given the purchasers after 10 per cent of the initial cost is paid on rental payments.

The plan was made possible by President Roosevelt's recent classification of Mansfield as a defense area, Cave said.

Previously, each home owner had to arrange his own FHA insured loan and make his own down payment. Cave says his corporation can borrow the money in a lump sum, construct the dwellings and sell them after assuming all down payment responsibilities.

The realtor said work on the 25 houses would begin tomorrow in the Country Club subdivision where he has been building other houses for more than a year and a half.

To fulfill FHA contracts the buildings which will sell for between $4,200 and $4,500, must be completed within eight months.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JULY 9, 1941.

Another thing needed this summer is a vacation from fear.

Germany and Italy punish citizens for listening to foreign broadcasts. The truth is dangerous.

Thousands of children go to camps these summer days, too, but their training is less strenuous than that of their big brothers.

Big Job Ahead for U. S. O.

ALTHOUGH some communities have gone over the top in raising their quotas for the United Service Organizations fund to provide leisure-time clubs for the nation's defense forces, only a little more than half of the $11,000,000 asked has been raised. Now is the time and this is the immediate cause that should have every American's attention, and the attention of many of America's alien residents who are thankful to be in this country.

It should not be necessary to again explain what the United Service Organizations—commonly called U. S. O.—represent and what their job is to be. As a newspaper man, a marine in the war of 1917-18 expresses it, the idea is to "rescue the soldiers lost on the curb."

"In time of peace or semi-peace," he explains, "there isn't as much love forthcoming from the populace at large, and soldiers have been known to spend hours sitting on curbs, wondering what to do."

In the last war period, he says, there was a limit to the amount of ice cream that could be consumed. And when the public didn't particularly want you around, and when you had no place to go and nothing much to do "you went around and looked in store windows and were actually glad when it was time to go back to camp. At least, you could talk to somebody there."

The U. S. O. dollars will provide clubs for soldiers where the men will be welcome and where they will find entertainment, recreation, friendly companionship, reading matter, and where lonely curb-sitting will not be necessary.

Frown on Gasoline Waste

THE idea of official sanction of thrift has become so remote in recent years that a hook-up with the national defense program is the only thing that gives compulsory gasoline and oil saving a serious aspect.

As defense petroleum co-ordinator, Secretary Ickes is making an effort to prevent a predicted oil shortage by reducing the waste of gasoline that results from "jackrabbit" starts, and extravagant use of oil due to improper adjustments.

Special emphasis is being placed on this subject in eastern states, where it is estimated a monthly saving of 250,000,000 gallons of gasoline could be made by proper adjustment and driving of automobiles.

It is hoped that need for rationing of gasoline and oil can be avoided if there is public co-operation in the effort to avoid waste, and it is the opinion of Secretary Ickes that "a few judicious arrests" will be helpful.

Anti-Nazi German Explains Error

GERHART H. SEGAR, formerly a member of the German reichstag, is now in this country and trying to organize German Americans in an anti-Nazi movement. In an interview recently he made several statements which might be profitably studied by leaders of the America First committee and other apologists for Hitler who think that the "injustices" of the Versailles treaty explain and justify the Nazi movement.

It is generous of Americans to accept that theory, Mr. Segar says, but they are "profoundly incorrect." The German grievances against the treaty were concerned with the provisions for reparations and the 15-year occupation of the Rhineland But those grievances, he reminds us, had been swept away by the Lausanne treaty and the withdrawal from the Rhineland years before Hitler attained power.

As for "war-makers," he remarks that the unpreparedness of Britain and France shows clearly that they were not contemplating war. Hitler's seven years of intense and effective preparation show the opposite intention just as clearly.

It seems stupid for otherwise intelligent Americans to go on distorting facts and describing as the "propaganda of interventionists" every assessment of Hitler's program for what it truly is.

Stereoscope Has Been Modernized

THOSE who recall the old-fashioned stereoscope, common to practically every home a generation ago, will be interested in learning of a modern adaptation of the same principle which is becoming increasingly popular over the country.

This new device, which combines the use of film and plastic, in an inexpensive outfit, retains the idea of securing the illusion of depth by making use of two pictures which merge into one when looked at through the magnifying "viewer," which serves the same purpose as the old-time stereoscope picture-holder.

Instead of paper prints, however, these pictures are on 35 milimeter film, in series of 14 views of each subject, and the third-dimension effect is much enhanced.

Either as a lasting reminder of the scenic beauty spots and places of interest already visited, or as advance suggestions of things to be seen on a contemplated trip—or for its educational and home entertainment value—it is worth knowing that such a device is available, with a considerable variety of films from which to choose.

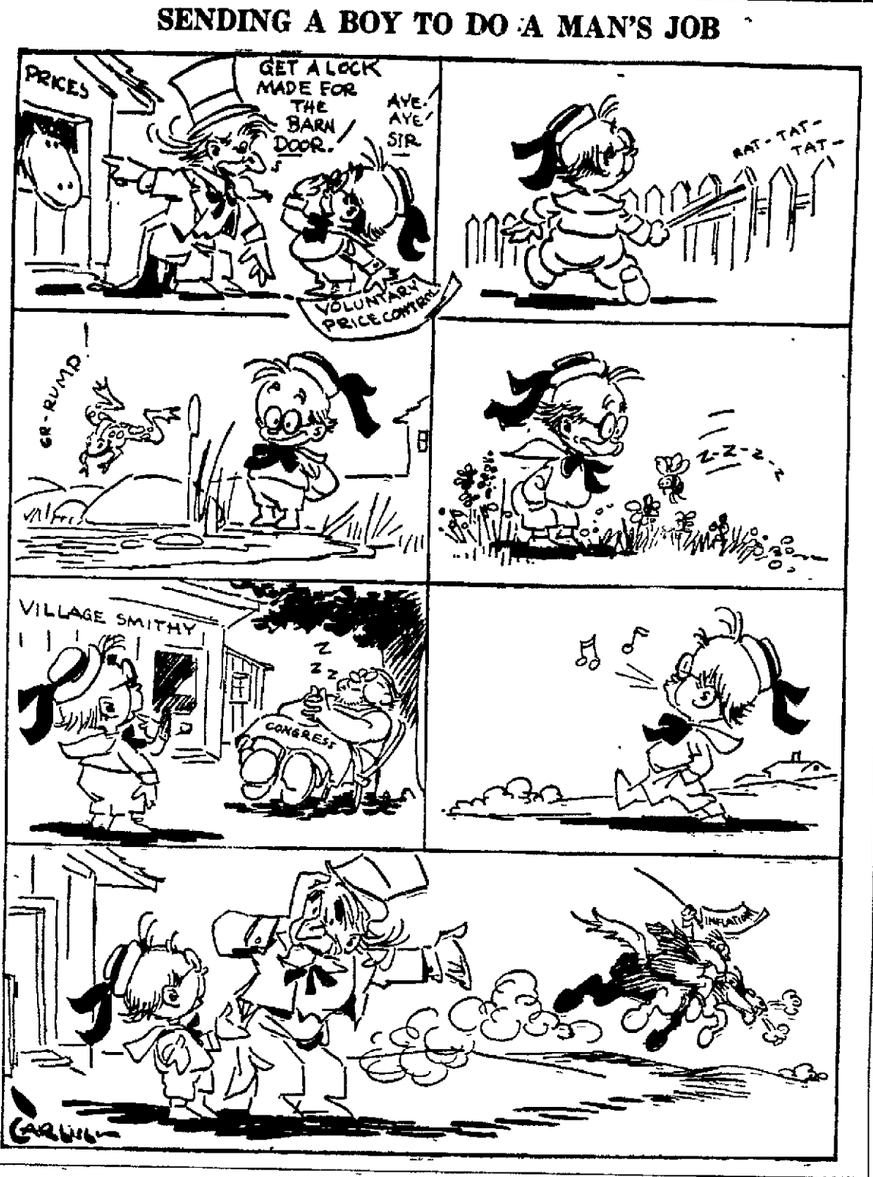
Mexico's Good Faith

ON JUNE 30 the Mexican ambassador at Washington handed to Acting Secretary of State Welles his government's check for $1,000,000. It was the amount due on account of the claims of American citizens whose lands in Mexico have been expropriated since August 30, 1927 under the Mexican agrarian program.

The arrangement under which the payment came due—the third made so far—was effected in 1938.

The sum is small from Uncle Sam's point of view, perhaps, but it is very welcome. It indicates good faith on the part of the Mexican government and holds out the promise that other property will be paid for, too. It represents also better understanding and good will between these two neighbor governments.

SENDING A BOY TO DO A MAN'S JOB



Lighter Side of Army Training

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Our army in training may be as serious as all get-out, but it has its lighter side, too.

I've been plowing through scores of army camp papers—dailies, weeklies and monthlies — everything from mimeographed tour-sheeters to profit-making, printed dailies, with paid advertising. And I can report that most he-said-she-said-he-said jokes are the same old Joe Millers that were around when the boys floated off to Cuba and the Philippines. BUT funny situation humor is in the saddle and nothing funny happens that isn't given the green light for general circulation

The army cartoonists are surprisingly good. The one from the Fort Niagara Drum showing an irate bandmaster, shouting at a rookie, playing the drums plenty hot and in the groove, "I don't care if Krupa does play it that way, you're in the army now," is national magazine stuff.

Another, from the Army Times, shows a befuddled trainee dashing about after taps and moaning to a lieutenant: "I know it's after taps, sir, but I camouflaged my tent and now I can't find it."

The Hickam Highlights, from Hawaii, and The Jungle Cat, publication of the 11th Engineers in Panama, have cartoonists who have caught the spirit of the tropics Most of their cartoons are sultry and although not too shocking for some of the sophisticated magazines, no fit subject for a family newspaper.

* * *

IN THE funny situation department:

The Dixie (Camp Blanding) reports that the 124th Infantry was delighted when Pvts Thomas W. Arseneau and Arvel Adkins joined up. The men had been animal trainers with Ringling Bros. & Barnum and Bailey's circus. Their first assignment was to tame the company's toughest sergeant.

Then there was the scornful advice of Corp. Chester Fails to a rookie who flinched every time he pulled the trigger in rifle practice: "Stop trying to dodge that bullet, soldier! It comes out the front end, not the back"

Fort Dix, N. J., likes the story of the 60 nurses who had to don gas masks and walk through the gas chamber. The boys expected them to come out trembling, but almost to a woman they pulled off their masks to complain, "Gosh, doesn't that leave your hair a mess"

* * *

AT Fort Bliss, one of the favorites is about the private (name withheld) who was on leave and wired headquarters: "Arriving El Paso, 9:50 p. m. Have GI truck pick me up." The telegram, now in the camp files, bears the pencilled notation: "No action taken."

The Camp Custer News adds the story of the trainee who was operating a message station on maneuvers in Tennessee. It was "Missouri weather," the News reports, and along came "a junior cloudburst." The trainee, seeking shelter, spied a tent, ducked in and started wringing out his clothes only to glance up and find himself face to face with the major general.

There also was Pvt Steve Kowatch who humped off to Nashville on leave, went to a hotel and demanded the softest bed they had in the place. He got it, for $2, found it was so soft he couldn't get to sleep and spent the night on the floor.

The Dispatch (at Camp Roberts, Calif.) tells of a private who had been in camp a month. Every night, right after dinner, he went to barracks, undressed wearily and rolled into bed One night, when his bunkmate was alongside, he said: "Say, Soldier, if we ever do have an easy day, remind me to stay up and hear taps, will you?"

Then there was the private on K.P., who, asked by the "cookie" if he had ever had any experience peeling potatoes, said: "Sure, I paid out a night club check that way once."

* * *

THE stock jokes run to such things as: "Sergeant—'Where is the balance of your gun?' Rookie—'I tell you, Sarge, this is all they gave me'"

And the one about the farmer who complained to the commander that he wanted his son sent home right away because he was getting soft from easy work and too much loafing.

That, in one form or another, has been used in nearly every camp. American Legionnaires will tell you that it, like many others, was just as good 24 years ago. But so were a lot of those being told today by some of our highest-paid comedians of radio, stage and screen.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, July 9, 1921.

The Susan Sturges property, with frontage of 236 feet on Park avenue west, at Weldon avenue, was purchased for $76,000, as intended site for new Masonic Temple.

George Hertz, National Ice company employe, sustained arm injury from icehook.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs John Sweet, Cline avenue.

E. M. Olin was elected president of the Community Service association.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Guinther, West First street, returned from visit with daughter in Detroit.

Miss Helen King and Charles Edmondstone were married at First Presbyterian church by Rev. I. K. Umbarger.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, July 9, 1936.

Mr. and Mrs. James LeMunyon and sons, James and Dean, 35 Mendota street, were in Wisconsin on a fishing trip.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Withrow, 407 Bowman street.

James Pugh, Davis road, reported his car had been damaged while parked on Third street.

Mrs Clara Marcelle Bell, 28, died at General hospital.

Jacob Schneider, jr., of West Point, N. Y., was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Schneider, Marion avenue.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On July 9, 1912, a rescue party of 50 seeking some 30 victims of a serious coal mine explosion in England were killed in the midst of their efforts by a second explosion.

Listen World!

You've Been Drafted!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THEIR BOY'S GONE—the laughing youngster around whom every joy and interest has centered for twenty-one years. And for them the world has stopped.

Reading the tear-stained letter, my own throat aches. I'm thinking of the night when another boy went and the awful feeling of desolation that followed. The feeling that you've lost your place in life forever.

But you haven't! Sorrow doesn't end our lives; it simply promotes us into a greater service.

You say your heart is broken? But no heart ever grows up until it is broken.

Hitherto you've only known the limited dimensions of your own joy. You didn't realize those dimensions were limited. You thought you were feeling the whole range of human experience. But you weren't. There were infinite phases which you never glimpsed, which you could not understand, closed, as you were, in your small, happy cell.

And now the walls have fallen. The small, set pattern of your individual life has been shattered. You fear it can be of little further use to yourself or to your country. But you are mistaken, for by that very blow you have been called to an infinitely greater service.

YOU'VE BEEN DRAFTED!

You're no longer just a private individual with purely personal plans. You're part of the army now, that great army of initiated souls who have faced the fire and so can comfort and carry on.

You have lost the precious child you loved, whose laughter lit your days. But perhaps now, when that laughter is stilled, you can hear the sobs of the millions of little ones all around the world. Perhaps, now, when your own eyes have been washed by tears, you can see the despair in the eyes of the aged, the betrayed, the humiliated and lonely.

YOU'VE BEEN DRAFTED!

That's the meaning of sorrow . . . that's the motive behind heartbreak. We may not know it at the time. We may believe that tragedy has no rightful part in human life . . . that science should prevent it . . . or prayers should shield against it. But surely as the night comes after the day, so surely grief must come in any normal life, or it will never come of age.

YET ALWAYS, IF WE'LL SUBMIT TO IT, THE BLOW THAT BREAKS OUR HEART WILL WIDEN OUR UNDERSTANDING, OUR SYMPATHY AND OUR POWER.

YOU'VE BEEN DRAFTED! ANSWER THE CALL!

Naval Intelligence Bars Anyone Not Fourth-Generation American

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Wendell Willkie, first-generation American, came within four million votes of being elected president. William Knudsen, born in Denmark, is director general of the OPM. Sidney Hillman, born in Lithuania, is associate director of the OPM.

But despite their fame and eminence, not one of these national leaders could get into Naval Intelligence.

Reason is that no matter what the ability, experience or proven loyalty of a native-born citizen, he is barred from service in Naval Intelligence—unless he is a fourth-generation American.

There is no law or navy regulation setting up such an extreme restriction. In fact, navy brass hats are very careful not to admit its existence in writing. But like the unwritten caste rule that bars enlisted men in the navy from permanent commissions, so this invisible but ironclad barrier operates to keep all but a select class out of Naval Intelligence.

How the system works is shown in the following specific case:

A crack Washington newsman who is a native-born American with a law degree and knowledge of two foreign languages, eager to serve in the emergency, applied for a reserve commission in Naval Intelligence. His recommendations were of the best. But all he got was a courteous runaround.

Finally, after writing a letter direct to Secretary Knox, the newsman was referred to Lt. Commander W. L. Gates, director of naval reserve activities, Washington Navy Yard. The newsman called on the officer, who questioned him about his experience and background and then asked, "Were your grandparents born in the United States?"

"No, they were not."

"I'm sorry," replied Gates, "but no appointments are being given in Naval Intelligence except to men whose great-grandparents were born in this country."

* * *

Social Warfare.

IN ADDITION to hot weather, war debates and national defense, Washington now has something else to worry about, a social squabble over Aid to Britain vs. Aid to American Draftees.

The first engagement in this momentous struggle took place in the lobby of Washington's fashionable Mayflower Hotel.

Mrs. Walter Tuckerman, with all the unction of a dowager, was dispensing stamps to buy British ambulances, while Mrs. H. Charles Spruks, wife of the ceremonial officer of the state department, was offering buttons for the United Service Organizations.

The trouble was when Mrs. Spruks left her booth for a visit to USO headquarters. Returning, she found that Mrs. Tuckerman, with British colors flying, had taken her place, and the USO booth had been relegated to a more obscure position.

Promptly Mrs Spruks appealed to the management With Yankee fire in her eye, she demanded, "I want to be put back where I was, in the center of the lobby."

"But my hands are tied," said the manager, "Mrs. Tuckerman is prominent socially, and she brings us a great deal of business."

"It's not a question of business," shot back Mrs. Spruks. "It's a question of whether the American soldier boys have as much right to be represented here as the British. Besides, the British promised they would hold off until our campaign was over on July 17."

The manager wrung his hands, said he would do what he could. Meantime, Mayor LaGuardia innocently stepped into the hornet's nest and was asked to settle the argument. But he hastily sidestepped with, "Oh, it's all in the game."

In the end Mrs. Tuckerman retreated.

Labor Scouts.

A NEW figure on the defense horizon is giving the U. S. employment service plenty of headaches. He is the labor scout.

Certain large defense contractors, desperate for skilled workers, have taken a cue from baseball magnates and are enticing men away from other plants. At least two west coast aircraft plants have full-time "personnel representatives" in the east luring skilled craftsmen with tempting offers of higher wages, more overtime pay and other inducements. Some companies even offer to pay the transportation of workers who sign up.

This raiding is causing serious complications. The chief sufferers are small factories and machine shops, many of which have frantically complained to the government that they will have to close down unless the raids are stopped.

So far the employment service has taken no direct action. But it has privately warned some of the big offenders that unless they cease their scouting, the matter will be placed before the OPM for disciplinary action.

Note—A recent report to the OPM from public employment offices puts the skilled labor shortage in a startling light. In April and May, 1941, 15 times as many requests for die-designers were received as were registered. The ratio of demand to supply in other crafts was: tool designers, 16 to 1; shipyard loftsmen, 35 to 1; boat builders, 40 to 1; aircraft woodworkers, 40 to 1; tinplate workers, 49 to 1; aircraft assemblers, 50 to 1; and toolmakers, 12 to 1.

Townsend Victory.

CONGRESSIONAL Townsendites are congratulating themselves on putting over a fast one in getting a special seven-man senate committee to investigate the operation of the Social Security Act.

Senator Sheridan Downey of California, chairman of the committee, has bigger things in mind than merely the announced purpose of examining the old-age pension system. He isn't advertising it, but he also plans to hold lengthy hearings on the Townsend old-age pension plan, which got a rough brush-off in a house committee and faces the same fate in the senate.

That's why Townsendites are cheering. They will get a hearing on their scheme without having to depend on antagonistic committees. Dr. Townsend himself and other big guns in the pension movement will be invited to testify

Four members of the special committee — Downey, Pepper of Florida, Brooks of Illinois and LaFollette of Wisconsin—are supporters of the Townsend plan. Connally of Texas and Green of Rhode Island are against it, while Thomas of Idaho is neutral.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—To a visiting fireman walking up 44th street on to Broadway, it must seem as though Orson Welles is all over the place.

Passing St. James theater he is regaled with signs and banners proclaiming the four-star virtues of "Native Son" Further up the same block the 44th street theater, operated by the same management, also shouts the everlasting virtues of "Native Son" and then on Broadway, in front of the Palace RKO theater, there is rigged up a really imposing display for "Citizen Kane," Orson's movie, with a mammoth replica of the young actor-director, and with smoke pouring from the top of the marquee. One wise-acre wanted to know if the smoke was piped in from an adjacent coffee animated sign that shows "steam" issuing forth in plumy gusts from the spout of a two-story coffee pot.

I WAS talking with Sammy Kaye and his manager, Jimmy Peppe, at the Essex House before Sammy left town on another of his interminable tours, and he spoke with satisfaction of a contract he signed recently with Frank Daley at the Meadowbrook. This is an unusual contract, for it covers a ten-year period. He is to play eight weeks a year for the next ten years at the Meadowbrook, which is flattering assurance as to the future. Many bands cannot see that far ahead

Peppe said Daley remarked to him that the Kaye organization would still be going strong 20 years from now. At this Sammy seemed horrified. "Not twenty years, Jim," he said. "I'd hate to think it" Sammy hopes by then that he'll be comfortably retired, taking his ease where he sees fit, instead of junketing about the country.

THERE is now an ironic touch to Joe Moss' reputation as one of Broadway's nattiest dressers. Joe is a night club man and a well known Broadway figure. He invented the minimum charge in Broadway night clubs, and for years he was manager of the Hollywood and the International Casino.

Both are closed now, but Joe's creases are still sharp as ever, and he still gives the appearance of having just stepped out of a band box. The point is this. Those night clubs Joe used to manage now are men's clothing stores. The Hollywood is owned by Crawford's, the International Casino by Bond's.

PRODUCERS, no less than actors, rely on talesmen and on superstition. Herman Shumlin, for instance, has named his yacht "The Watch." . . . Reason: One of his two hit plays this year was "Watch On the Rhine."

The five "miners" in "The Corn Is Green" hurried down to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., over the weekend to have a look at a real mine. After crawling through shafts for several hours they agreed bodily that actors' paint was a much nicer proposition than the grit in those Pennsylvania pits.

More Answers To Health Questions

—By DR. CLENDENING

J. G., Detroit, Mich.—"Can a simple goiter or slight enlargement of the thyroid be cured by x-ray treatments, and if so is there any danger of those treatments affecting the other glands in the neck?"

Answer: X-ray has been used for treatment in some forms of goiter No one can be certain, however, whether it will do good in a given case or not. It does no harm to other glands in the neck.

M. S, San Francisco, Calif.—"What causes spells of sneezing not from a cold?"

Answer: The nose responds to any irritation by a sneeze So dust, plant pollens, or strong vapors all cause sneezing spells.

V. R.:—"Is there any narm in using a deorderant which stops perspiration for from two to three days?"

Answer: Preparations which stop perspiration are usually astringents such as aluminum chloride or aluminum sulfate and they are likely to be irritating. But you should know by experience whether the preparation you are using is irritating.

J. L.:—"Have heard of eating yeast as a medicine. Please tell us in what ways it is good and how much should be eaten."

Answer: Yeast has been recommended for nearly everything from skin rashes to constipation, but so far as medical science can prove, it does no good in any of them. It does contain vitamins, however.

D. D., Savannah, Mo.—"After a severe cold I have lost my sense of smell. Please advise what to do."

Answer: Anosmia, or loss of smell, is a common sequel after a nasal infection. It is always temporary under these conditions. As soon as the basal mucous membrane is restored, the sense of smell returns.

This Is Ohio

The village of Lakeside, on Lake Erie, is famous for its cultural movement and summer entertainment which attract thousands each year.

Concerts by famous orchestras, recitals, plays, pageants and operas are given in a region known as a land of wooded areas, magnificent scenery, and one of the country's principal grape-growing sections. The lake provides excellent swimming, boating and fishing. The entertainment, modelled after Chautauqua, N. Y., was inaugurated in 1873.

Lakeside is about five miles from Port Clinton and ten miles from Sandusky with which there is communication by steamers passing to and from the numerous islands in Lake Erie. It is just off Route No. 2, which traverses the lake shore.

FILES ACTION

Driver Asks $2,500 Damages After Truck Accident.

Eathern Ingram has filed suit in common pleas court asking $2,500 judgment from Delbert D. Hewitt, Shelby, as the result of injuries received in an auto accident, June 14.

Ingram claims in his petition that the defendant was driving while under the influence of liquor and that he was negligent in the operation of his car.

The accident took place on state route 61, about one-half mile east of Vernon Junction, when Hewitt, according to the petition, swerved his truck to the left across the center line of the highway, causing a collision with the Ingram car, that had been traveling in the same direction behind the truck.

Ingram's petition states that the plaintiff's car was reduced in value from $525 to $25 by the accident and that Ingram received bodily injuries and has been in a nervous and sleepless condition since.

FILES SUIT TO POSSESS LAND

Walter H. Zeigler and Nettie M. Zeigler were named defendants in suit filed in common pleas court today by the Capital Investment company seeking possession of two Mansfield lots and the sum of $750 and costs.

The plaintiff claims that the defendants had unlawfully kept the Capital Investment company from possession of lots 10,459 and 10,460 and that the defendants had excluded the plaintiff from rents and profits.

Judgment for the delivery of the property and for the sum of $750 and costs is asked by the plaintiff through Attorney Thomas J. McDermott.

BUYS 3 LIGHTS

City To Install More Traffic Signals at Intersections.

Purchase of new traffic signal lights to be installed at three of the city's busiest but unprotected intersections was announced today by Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton.

The lights will be installed at Sturges and Glessner avenues, Grace and Wayne streets and Penn avenue and West Fourth street. Council appropriated $900 for the purchase of the lights at its June meeting.

The contract was awarded to the Crouse-Hinds Electrical Equipment company, Syracuse, N. Y., which will supply the lights for $690. Crafton said the additional $290 be needed to purchase poles and to wire the lights for installation.

GETS $25 FINE

Garland Stevens, 321 Bowman street, taxi driver, was fined $25 and costs and given a suspended sentence of 90 days in the Richland county jail today after pleading not guilty to an embezzlement charge before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court.

Stevens was charged with embezzling five dollars by his employer, George Reichert, manager of the Service Cab company. Judge Kalbfleisch suspended the jail sentence pending Stevens' good behavior.

MANSFIELD DEANERY ENTERTAINS TODAY

Nine Deaneries of Toledo Diocese Present for Quarterly Business Session at Mansfield-Leland Hotel Ballroom; Father Ryan, Speaker.

WITH the Mansfield deanery of Catholic women having been invited to act as hostess to the other eight deaneries of the Toledo diocese of the National Council of Catholic Women, more than 100 women were in attendance today at the quarterly session at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. This was the first time in several years that the local group has taken an active part in the diocese meetings.

Dr. William Ryan, S. J., of John Carroll university, Cleveland, was the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting this noon. Father Ryan is head of the radio department and the American history division at the university.

At the opening session this morning at 10:30 Mrs. John McCrystal of Sandusky, the new diocese council president, presided. The Toledo deanery was in charge of the routine business. Reports were given by the following deaneries, Crestline, Shelby, Galion, Bucyrus, Fremont, Lima, Defiance, Mansfield and Toledo. Miss Minnie Byrne of Toledo, diocese secretary, gave the regular reports.

Mrs. John Massa, jr, Mansfield deanery chairman, served at toastmistress at the afternoon session. Other local deanery officers are Miss Marie Kalbfleisch, vice president and Miss Nell Carrigan, secretary.

During the afternoon meeting Mrs. McCrystal talked on the work of the council A brief message was also given by Msgr. R. C. Goebel. Crestline was represented by Mrs. J. F. McMahon, delegate-at-large for the Mansfield deanery. Miss Della Menninger of Bucyrus, president of the Catholic Women's Study club there, was in attendance and Mrs. Walter Mason, diocesean chairman of education, was present from Galion.

Deanery presidents who were in attendance included Mrs. Fred Cripps of Norwalk, of the Sandusky deanery; Mrs. Frances Lenhart of Defiance and Mrs Walter Sneider of the Fremont deanery.

Officers of the Toledo diocese who presided during the meeting were Mrs. McCrystal, Mrs. Joseph Wohl of Lima, recording secretary; Miss Lillian Alter of Toledo, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Fred Nally of Toledo, auditor.

Luncheon was served at eight small tables and the speaker's table, which were attractive with unique arangements of summer bouquets.

Taps Girls Club Gives Party for Two Recent Brides

For the pleasure of two of their group, members of the Taps Girls' club entertained with a picnic supper and party Tuesday evening at the cottage of Roy Vaughn, Mifflin lake. The affair honored Mrs. Kenneth Hinz, nee Erna Schenk, and Mrs. Ralph Rogers, the former Betty Deibler. A shower of miscellaneous gifts were given to the recent brides.

Contests were enjoyed during the evening with prizes being won by Miss Miriam Bauer, Miss Helen Wornstaff, Mrs. Hazel Frietchen and Miss Catherine Stevenson, who presented them to the honored guests. Hostesses for the party were Misses Mildred Hickman, Ruth Lamberton and Mildred Rice. The next meeting of the club will be held Aug. 12 with the place to be announced later.

Three Star Club Members Meet At Bucyrus Home

Three Star club members met Tuesday evening at the Abbott home near Bucyrus for their business and social meeting. Hostesses for the session were the Misses Lois Cooper and Marjorie Olinger, Bucyrus. During the evening the 18 members in attendance played bridge Prizes were won by Miss Mildred Baughn, Marion and Miss Pearl Adams, Mansfield.

During the evening the guests presented a gift to Mrs. Opal Zerker who was Miss Crone of Ashland before her marriage. A shower of handkerchiefs was also given Miss Eleanor Johns who is leaving the Ohio Fuel Gas company for another position. Miss Jerry Mowry was elected to the post of treasurer of the organization when Miss Johns submitted her resignation Luncheon was served at the close of the evening at small tables decorated with garden flowers.

Entertain for Western Guests

Mrs. John George, 311 Park avenue west, and Mrs George Fetter, Auburn avenue, have been busy these past weeks entertaining friends and relatives from the west coast where they visited last year. They entertained Monday evening at Liberty park with a picnic dinner and dance in honor of guests who are returning to their homes and also those who have arrived to spend several weeks with them.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schalyo and Mrs. Henry Schwarz and son, Henry, Los Angeles, Calif., who returned to their homes Tuesday, and Mrs. George Bauer and Mrs. Anthony Stasser, also of Los Angeles, who arrived in Mansfield Monday evening to spend several weeks, were the honored guests at the party. Sixty five friends and relatives of the guests attended the party. Other parties are being planned for the duration of their stay in the city.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, July 10.

Judging by the lunar and mutual aspects of major planets this should be a day of excellent opportunity for advancing upon high goals, and with much audacity and bold initiative. While it is propitious for launching new and very ambitious projects, with determination and aggression, yet it would be well to keep to tried and practical methods lest too radical change might challenge unwelcome publicity. Friendships, in both business and romantic aspect, may play a major part in attaining pleasant and profitable climax, but beware extravagance and over-indulgent ways. Courtship and marriage, festivity and popularity are probable.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find good fortune and exceptional opportunity knocking at the door, with insistence and determination. There should be unusual openings for putting over major projects as well as launching all sorts of objectives and ambitions, leading to high goals of heart's desire. The romantic as well as financial prospects may be splendidly stimulated for success and satisfaction; in all contacts friendship, affection and social festivity play major roles. Marital felicity is shown, but shun jealousy and "competition"; also publicity of an unwelcome complexion. Lavish outlay and excess might prove disturbing.

A child born on this day should have great energy and initiative, with exalted aims and ambitions. It should make outstanding success in life but early direction in thrift and financial responsibility would be helpful.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"If you make me laugh, you'll never laugh again," I threatened Mary darkly. Then, as she resumed her grandiloquent manner, I stole a glance at Philip Veritzen, standing a little to one side of me, and saw that he was indeed "eating up" the attention I was receiving as the author of the latest Veritzen stage hit.

But it was over at last, and for a second there was no one near my chair save Nancy Carew, who had come almost at once to my side, and who, in deference to her age and position, had been given a chair near me.

Noel's Fury Mounting.

Mary, with her social duty to me and to her father-in-law ended—she evidently had been under instructions from him to see that everyone in the room had a word with me, was relaxing in an interchange of laughing raillery with Stephen Redfield, a performance which a stealthy glance across the room told me was being watched intently and with mounting fury by Noel, even though he was making a mighty effort to appear unconcerned and to talk nonchalantly to Olina and one of her attendant swains, seated near him.

Philip Veritzen had crossed to his wife's side and was bringing her over to me. I knew that I should have but a few seconds to myself, so I spoke to Nancy Carew hurriedly and in muted tones.

"Keep Philip and his wife talking as much as you can," I whispered. "I want my eyes free for a second."

"I understand," she whispered back, and when Philip and Olga came up to me she adroitly managed, after the first interchange of words with me, to keep their attention firmly riveted upon her for the seconds necessary for me to turn upon Mary's face and Stephen Redfield's the watchful attention I so anxiously desired to give them.

Madge Puzzled About Mary.

When, upon my entrance earlier in the evening, I had seen Dicky's beautiful niece and her leading man in their absorbing dance, I had decided that Stephen Redfield probably was "in love" with Mary, but that she was distinctly not romantically interested in him.

Now, as beneath carefully lowered lids I studied their faces, I was not sure of either premise.

For, if Mary were not attracted to him, she was giving a portrayal of such interest that would have won conviction in an audience at the theater or, as now, in the real world of her family and associates. If she was playing a role, she was doing it so realistically that it was dangerous in its potential repercussions.

Languorous eyes, fluttering eyelashes, tremulous lips curved, as if for a kiss—consciously or unconsciously she was using all the tricks, I told myself. And then I turned my attention to the face of the man upon whom she was lavishing her allurement.

Sees Brutality In Redfield.

What I saw, not in his face but in his eyes, as for the fraction of a second he glanced quickly from Mary to me and back again, would have brought a frightened, primitive scream from me, if I had not been mentally braced for any discovery.

For though his face was tender, impassioned, as he bent toward Mary, and though I knew that his eyes, when turned upon her, held the same simulated emotions, there had been something far different in the fleeting glance he had given me.

Whether that look had been meant to search my face—a far-fetched and fantastic conclusion, I told myself—or whether for that one instant he had found it impossible to keep up his pose of romance, I could not tell. But for that one instant brutality, ruthlessness and triumph had mingled with questioning in Stephen Redfield's eyes, and there had been no hint of tenderness in them.

And then, across the room, I saw Noel spring to his feet and walk hurriedly toward us.

"The Authority on Authorities"

TEST THE SITUATION

When you haven't enough tricks in sight, it is a mistake to count on the even break of the outstanding cards of some particular suit if you can enhance your chances by protecting yourself against a bad break. Perhaps if you play a few tricks in some other suit, you may pick up a bit of information from the drop of the cards. It may show you that a squeeze is likely to work against one defender or the other, or possibly a lead-thrower or other device.

This deal also was in that winning streak of your writer. The nineteenth consecutive rubber went quickly—a two-deal rubber with Willard S. Karn as partner against Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hazen. Then the second round of pivoting began, with Mr. Karn in the South as our partner. A pretty bid—his 6-No Trumps, to make sure that his club K was a stopper if the suit got opened. That was the lead, the club Q, of course, won by the A, and the hard-to-read 6 returned to the K.

In clear sight were 11 tricks—three in spades, four in hearts, three in diamonds and that one club. If spades would break, there were 12, but why count on that? Mr. Karn first took in three diamonds. When West failed to follow, that made it highly probable he had more spades than his partner. So a squeeze was essayed, which at the same time left the even-break chance in spades. Four hearts were run winning the last in the South hand.

West had to play on that last heart trick. He had five cards left—his four spades and his club J, but had to discard one. Knowing Mr. Karn for his bid had to hold the spade K, he knew defense against that suit was up to himself. So he threw off his club J, hoping his partner had the 10. Mr. Karn then took in the club 10 and three high spades. If the club J had been retained by West and a spade discarded, then four spade tricks would have finished the hand.

This deal completed the fourth consecutive rubber of the night for your writer, in fast company, making the unprecented total string of 20 consecutive rubbers.

LITIGATION ON BUCYRUS RAIL SHOPS TO END

Council To Study Cash Offer of $11,000 Made By N. Y. Central Line.

BUCYRUS — Litigation which started more than 10 years ago over Bucyrus New York Central railroad shops when the company moved most of its repair work to the Collinwood, Cleveland, plant, is expected to be permanently closed by action of city council in a special meeting this week.

The meeting, to be held Thursday or Friday night, will bring an open discussion from the public which is expected to influence the action of council in accepting or refusing cash offer of $11.000 from the New York Central in exchange for a clear and absolute title to Bucyrus railroad property.

The cash settlement offer, proferred through the company's superintendent of equipment, A. D. Bingman, was made at a meeting of city officials Monday.

The litigation arose when the railroad company, 10 years ago, started to move its repair equipment to Collinwood in violation of terms of the property deed which provided that the property revert to the Monnett heirs if at any time the company stopped using it as a repair shop. A suit instituted here and carried to the Ohio supreme court, resulted in a ruling that the city was without the right to force the company to do its work here and denied an injunction forcing such have remained employed here since the litigation was started work. A small group of workers in compliance of the terms of the deed

Possibility that the shops will be diverted to national defense work was indicated in a communication from the Production Management office in Washington but no definite announcement has been made.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — The movie director, Irving Rapper, was having a time with those ducks, and a mild-mannered, pink-faced gentleman on the sidelines made a note.

There is a connection. The congregation of New York's Marble Collegiate church (Fifth Avenue at 29th) will hear all about it.

"Hollywood," says the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, "is full of sermons. The patience of the director, who wanted a certain effect from those ducks to symbolize a gossiping woman, amazed me. He spent two hours on them, and I'm sure that he would have spent all day if necessary. He wasn't satisfied with just any result—he wanted perfection. And there's a sermon."

The Marble Collegiate, founded by the Dutch settlers in 1628, is the oldest church in New York, and the oldest in the country with a record of continuous ministry—services every Sunday for the past 313 years. The present structure was built in 1854, and Dr. Peale, with an Ohio small-town background, has been pastor there the past nine years. He was selected by a group of Protestant clergymen to serve as technical adviser on the filming of "One Foot in Heaven," Hartzell Spence's story of his own preacher-father.

* * *

Hollywood, if Dr. Peale didn't know it, was a little in awe of his arrival. Many churchmen, from the screen's beginnings, have found the movies a ripe subject for sermons. Churchmen, back in 1934, did more than preach about the movies. They organized, and Hollywood had to respond with actions. Churchmen still keep a watchful eye on the movies and their self-censorship.

Dr. Peale had hesitated to come for this picture, he says, but a member of his congregation urged it upon him as a "call to service," and his board was equally enthusiastic. "We're conscious of the screen's importance as a tremendous social force," he says, "and this picture can do a world of good."

FEUDING DEMS MEET TODAY AT SAWYER FARM

Take Up Patronage Squabble, Proposed Merger of Two Ohio Headquarters.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Ohio's ever-feuding Democrats met today in their first big peace pow-pow of the year.

Scene of the meeting was the Bunker Hill farm of National Committeeman Charles Sawyer in Clinton county, where Sawyer has invited chairmen of the party's organization in the state's 88 counties and State Chairman J. Freed Bittinger.

The only "regret" to the invitation was sent by Mrs. Olive Brumbaugh, of West Alexandria, Preble county leader and only chairwoman in the state, who declined so the party could be strictly stag.

Matters to be discussed included: Settlement of the patronage squabble between Sawyer and Rep. Stephen M. Young, congressman-at-large and Ohio's only statewide elected Democrat in congress.

Proposed merger of the separate headquarters maintained in Columbus by the national party (headed by Sawyer) and the state party organization (headed by Bittinger.)

Sawyer, who carries considerable Ohio influence at the White House, spent several days in Washington last week and is expected to offer "something definite" in the way of a compromise on the patronage problem. Young's authority as patronage dispenser has been supported by the other Ohio Democratic representatives.

The separate quarters situation is rooted in the political enemity between Sawyer and former Governor Martin L. Davey. Bittinger's selection as state chairman was dictated by Davey when the latter won the party's gubernatorila nomination last year.

Since Davey's overwhelming defeat in the November election, Bittinger has run into considerable difficulty over finances for his organization. In accepting Sawyer's invitation for today's confab, Bittinger endorsed a plan for consolidation of the two headquarters.

Sawyer said that today's rally is solely in the interest of party harmony. He said there will be no suggestion on his part for the removal of Bittinger as state chairman.

"I will not be a party to a move to replace Bittinger and there will be no suggestions that Bittinger resign," Sawyer declared.

THREE INJURED

Mansfielders Hurt as Auto, Truck Crash In City.

Three persons were injured in an automobile accident early last night when a car driven by Mrs. Addie L. Harmon, 30 Lamberton avenue, collided with a truck at the intersection of South Diamond and Flint streets, police reports said today.

Mrs. Harmon told police that she was driving south on South Diamond street when McGinney's truck, headed north, made a left turn into Flint street.

McGinney, acco ding to police, said he thought he had sufficient time to make the turn but that Mrs. Harmon was traveling faster than he thought.

ARREST DRIVER

Highway Patrolmen Hold Motorist For Bucyrus Police.

State highway patrolmen last night apprehended R. W. Ollacott of San Francisco, at the junction of U. S. Route 30-N and State Route 314 and returned him to Bucyrus where he faced hit-skip driving charges.

Ollacott was charged with driving an automobile which side swiped another auto driven by H. J. Warden of North Robinson. The accident occurred on East Mansfield street in Bucyrus which was undergoing repairs.

Bucyrus police said this morning that Ollacott made a property damage settlement and continued on his journey. No injuries were reported.

ASHLAND RATE CUT PROPOSED

O. P. S. Estimates New Contract Would Save Consumers In City $90,000.

ASHLAND — Lower domestic rates which, it was estimated, would save consumers $90,000 over a five-year period, had been offered Ashland city council today by the Ohio Public Service company.

The reduction would be in line with rate cuts which went into effect recently in Mansfield and Elyria, J. R. Halladay, division manager of the O. P. S., told councilmen.

Halladay proposed a five-year contract with the city which would set the minimum charge at 80 cents instead of the present 85 cents for the first 10 kwh, four cents each for the next 65 kwh., two and a half cents each for the next 125 kwh., and two cents each of all over 200 kwh.

The new schedule would provide a maximum saving of 77½ cents per month for the consumer who uses 200 kwh., it was said.

Halladay said the power company would attempt to build up power consumption to offset the lower rates.

FRIENDS OF LAND TO INSPECT MALABAR AS PART OF OHIO TOUR

Malabar Farm, home of Author Louis Bromfield, will be included in the tour of inspection to be made Saturday, July 19, as a feature of a three-day national meeting of Friends of the Land, a newly organized group dedicated to soil and water conservation.

The program begins in Columbus, Friday morning, July 18, and continues there through the evening when Gov. John W. Bricker, Stuart Chase and Bromfield will be the principal banquet speakers.

An executive meeting open to the public will be held in the morning followed by a luncheon at either the Prime Minister of Canada or the Canadian Minister of Agriculture will be the principal speaker. Between 20 and 30 national experts in the various fields of conservation will participate in the afternoon program.

Saturday will be devoted to the tour of inspection and will bring the visitors to Malabar Farm in time for lunch. Stops will be made at Mifflin lake near Mansfield, Bluebaugh Farm in Knox county, Mohican State park, the Wooster Experimental Station and the Coshocton Hydrographic Station.

The party will return to Columbus in the evening and start out again Sunday morning to visit the badly ruined areas of southern Ohio to show the evil economic and sociological effects of floods and soil wastage.

Mansfielders interested in the conservation program are cordially invited to attend all meetings including the lunch at Malabar. Tickets for the lunch are $1.50 and reservations must be sent in at least before July 17.

SPEED PROGRAM

City Sets Up Funds for Fixing Runways at Airport.

Plans went forward today for the adaptation of Mansfield's Municipal airport into a training base for military flight instructors and transport pilots.

James R. Harrington, airport manager, announced that he had been informed that the city would expend between $300 and $500 in smoothing out rough spots in the port's runways.

Plans are being made for the construction of barracks at the field for a class of 12 civilian pilots, scheduled to arrive Monday to open a 17-week training course. Harrington said that he had requested permission to build barracks at the airport from the city.

Pilots coming in Monday will be given temporary quarters until barracks can be built, according to Harrington. Six of the civilian pilots coming here will be from Chicago and the remainder from all sections of Ohio.

"John, be careful! That's his pitching arm!!"

C. A. McKinley and Tom Hoffman, deputies in the county clerk of court's office, were chuckling today over a souvenir they received from their boss, Clerk Howard Wenning, who is on a vacation with his family in northern Michigan. The gift was an "honest fishermen's rule." marked for 24 inches but actually only about eight inches long. It is designed to enable fishermen to measure their catch and report to friends "truthfully" on the length of the fish.

Eldon K. Johnson, 543 Forest avenue, today told how he spent a sleepless evening over the holiday week-end just because he couldn't stay awake. Returning from Lake Erie where he had spent an active day he felt sleepy so he parked on a side road to catch a little shuteye. Later when he awoke and tried to turn his car around he backed into a ditch. The result of his efforts to dislodge the car were nil so he finally flagged a ride into Mansfield to get a friend who returned with him to rescue his car. His adventure cost him all of the evening an no small part of the early morning as well.

At least three members of a Mansfield foursome will carry more identification with them on future trips into Canada as the result of an experience they encountered when they entered Leamington, Ontario, last week end. These three, all American-born citizens, carried no proof of their citizenship while their Rumanian-born companion had his American citizenship papers with him. Alfred Schneider was the lucky one. The rest of the party composed of Mrs. Schneider and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Tedrick had some difficulty with the Canadian officials before they were able to persuade them of their identity.

The click, click, click of the pinball machine is being heard these days in, of all places, the Mansfield station of the state highway patrol. But the patrolmen assure the public they are not gambling, just passing the time and developing their touch and skill. A standard size electric machine has been placed at the station by O. D. Fair, Mansfield police dispatcher and owner of the property. Slugs, not money, are used to manipulate the machine, and no prizes are awarded.

STRIKER SHOT AT MEAT PLANT DISTURBANCE

AFL Workers Vote To Return To Jobs at Jefferson Barracks, Missouri.

(By Associated Press)

A striker was wounded seriously by a pistol bullet and three other persons, including a policeman, were injured as violence broke out last night at the E. Kahn's Son company meat packing plant at Cincinnati where the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen (AFL) is striking for a closed shop.

Lonnie Jones, 36, striker, was shot in the back of the head and is in serious condition at General hospital. Madison Lewis, 46, elevator operator at the plant, admitted the shooting and claimed strikers upset his automobile, Patrolman Edward Stein said.

Windows of the plant and of parked cars were stoned and a motorcycle police detail of 15 men was added to two dozen on duty at the plant and ordered to remain all night.

A woman was treated for bruises and a man for cuts at General hospital following the third outbreak of the night at about midnight.

The plant, which employs about 800 workers, was operating during the violence. About half of the employes went out on strike May 27, but since then about 100 of them returned to work, company spokesmen claim.

American Federation of Labor Building Trades Workers voted to return to work today on the army's $4,000,000 Jefferson barracks, Mo., expansion project, ending a week-old test strike against employment of WPA labor.

At the same time, a strike of AFL-United Auto Workers—whose dispute was being considered by the defense mediation board—closed a Michigan defense plant, and a unique walk-off of AFL-Electrical Workers threatened to delay completion of part of the government's huge Charlestown, Ind., ordnance works.

The AFL Building Trades council voted to end the Jefferson Barracks strike after receiving assurance that the OPM would investigate alleged encroachment of the WPA in construction work. Hiring of 75 WPA painters at sub-union wages precipitated the walk-out.

At Muskegon, Mich., the AFL-United Auto Workers struck the plant of the Sealed Power corporation, which manufactures engine parts for tanks, submarines and trucks. The union is demanding wage increases and a union shop contract. Wage scales were not disclosed.

A spokesman for the AFL-Electrical Workers Union asserted the Charlestown walk-off was neither a strike nor a dispute and that 400 workers simply left to seek jobs at higher wages elsewhere. At $1.31¼ an hour, they were employed on installation of the third smokeless powder production line. At nearby defense operations, union leaders claimed, the comparable wage rate is $1.50 an hour.

Efforts to settle a dispute between the AFL-Chemical Workers Union and the Western Cartridge company, Alton, Ill., before the mediation board hears the case Friday bogged down. Agreement was reached on the union as bargaining agent, but management and union spokesmen said they had deadlocked on other demands involving wage increases from 60 to 85 cents an hour and a union shop.

In Waterbury, Conn., directors of the American Brass company and members of the CIO-Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers averted a threatened strike by ratifying an agreement calling for an hourly wage increase of eight cents, retroactive to May 11.

Mansfield Hurler Taken to Hospital After Injury

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Usually when an athlete turns in a really remarkable performance he's apt to do just the opposite his next time out.

That often goes for no-hit-game pitchers in baseball, 300-game bowlers, and record breakers in golf.

So when young Al Hager comes back with a winning 35 in league play at Possum Run the day after setting two new course records at Westbrook, you are forced to the conclusion that here's a young man with a level head on his shoulders, one who won't be bothered too much by pressure of past performances.

* * *

If Al's clubs were hot Monday when he banged out that 34-29—63 at Westbrook, his putter was blazing.

He needed just 12 putts for the first nine and only nine putts for the second.

* * *

He hasn't heard, evidently, of the brand of motor boat golf I play. Putt, putt, putt.

* * *

Lefty Settlemire, manager of last season's Ohio State league champion Lima Pandas, has just piloted Newport to the first-half title in the Northeast Arkansas league, four and a half games out in front.

The former Lima boss now has two Shaughnessy titles and two pennants to his credit in slightly more than two years as a manager in organized baseball.

* * *

Now if Lefty's brother, Rex, can do the same with the present Lima outfit this second-half season in the Ohio State league, the Managers Settlemire will be well settled in baseball, and not in the mire.

* * *

He'd have us wail in accents dire,
"Save us from those Settlemires."

Riggs Gets Jump On Champ M'Neill

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—Bobby Riggs, Chicago and Clinton, S. C., has a head start on National Champion Don McNeill of Oklahoma City in the annual Western Tennis tournament at Woodstock Country club.

* * *

Riggs, ranked No. 2 in the meet, defeated top-seeded McNeill at Lexington, Ky., yesterday in the postponed final match of the Southern championship tournament, then hurried here and won two matches.

* * *

McNeill arrived too late to get started, but was matched against Jack McLeod, Indianapolis, in his first duel today.

Riggs defeated George Newton, Indianapolis, 6-0, 6-1, and Robert Kimbrell, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-1. Today he was pitted against the winner of a match between Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Calif., seeded No. 3 and Victor Kingdon, Indianapolis.

Arky Has Complaint To Make

Loses Hero's Role on Ted Williams' Blast.

By GAYLE TALBOT

DETROIT—(AP)—Of all the National leaguers whose wives and relations should keep them out of tall buildings for the next few days, the one with the most legitimate complaint about the way yesterday's all-star game turned out is Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh's veteran shortstop.

Arky, not anywhere near famous as a distant hitter, rose to the heights in the cause of the National league and hit two shattering home runs in successive innings, each time with a man on base. It was tremendous and should have been enough to place Vaughan in the all-star hall of fame with something to spare.

* * *

But what happens? A tall California boy named Ted Williams, employed by the Boston Red Sox, comes up with two out and two on in the ninth inning and slams a homer to give the American leaguers a 7 to 5 victory and relegafe Vaughan's two preceding clouts to the ash can.

* * *

Looking around, Vaughan can lay such a tough break as that to a couple of things. In the first place, why wasn't Williams, leading hitter of the American league, given a walk so that the fading Claude Passeau could get at Dominic DiMaggio. Anybody would have been better than Williams.

Yet, last night, Manager Del Baker of the victorious Americans said is would have been poor strategy to pass Williams, for that would have put the winning run on second base.

Secondly, with one out in that terrible ninth, Joe DiMaggio slapped a perfect double play ball to shortstop. Eddie Miller grabbed the pill and flipped it to Billy Herman, forcing Cecil Travis at second and setting up the twin-killing that would have closed out the game with the Nationals ahead, 5 to 3.

* * *

It was in the bag. But Herman hurried his throw, pulling Frank McCormick off first base. A run dented the plate, two were on base and Williams was up there swinging his wagon-tongue with a crowd of 54,674 on edge.

* * *

Such things happen, and Arky Vaughan, who should have been a hero, was just another unfortunate who almost hit the jackpot. The American leaguers now hold a lead of 6 to 3 in the all-star classics.

Late last night the National league magnates still were sitting all by themselves on unlighted staircases in local hotels, holding their heads and giving no mind to missed train reservations. That is the literal truth. They take this thing seriously.

Grand Circuit Races Called Off

TOLEDO—(AP)—Lack of interest and a scarcity of horses stalled Ohio's mid-summer harness racing program today.

The grand circuit program at Toledo was called off last night, three days before the meet was scheduled to end, and a two-week short ship harness meet at Canfield fairgrounds near Youngstown, due to open July 14, was cancelled.

Toledo officials blamed lack of public interest and too few entries. Scarcity of horses was blamed by Canfield promoters, who said that horsemen preferred not to ship their entries to the midwest because of a 100-night schedule now under way in the east.

PROPHET BILL TERRY SEES DODGERS WITH PENNANT

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (AP) — Those not-so-daffy Brooklyn Dodgers will win the National league flag race, Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants predicts.

Here for a three-day vacation as a result of yesterday's All-Star game, "Memphis Bill" declared yesterday:

"If that strong-arm trio of mound aces, Whitlow Wyatt, Kirby Higbe and Hugh Casey, continue at top form, it appears the Dodgers will march in easily."

Defending Champion Byron Nelson of Toledo and Medalist Samuel Jackson Snead of Hot Springs, Va., who led the way into today's opening match play bracket of 32 man-to-man battles over 18 holes, both have enlisted medical aid lately.

* * *

Nelson has a torn nail on a finger smashed in an automobile door but insists it doesn't bother his grip—"Just feels dead."

Snead, who scorched Cherry Hills in two qualifying rounds of 69-69—138, four under par, to win the diamond-studded Alex Smith memorial medal, has been plagued by an aching back.

* * *

National Open Champion Craig Wood from Mamaroneck, N. Y., also was troubled with a back ailment that later spread to one leg, but he turned in a smart 69 yesterday after shooting 76 Monday.

* * *

Harry Bassler, chunky Los Altos, Calif., pro, who was tied for the lead at the 18-hole stage, wound up with 68-73—141—and his golf career has been interrupted 11 times by trips to the hospital, mostly for stomach surgery.

Despite impaired vision in one eye, Mark Fry of Oakland holds the California open crown and qualified satisfactorily with 72-76—148.

About the only hospital case not represented in the battle for the championship, which will be decided Sunday, is Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., who also was the only former champion failing to qualify.

CANCELL HARNESS RACES

YOUNGSTOWN—(INS)—The Short-Ship Harness Racing meet scheduled at the Canfield fairgrounds during the two weeks beginning July 14 was cancelled today by promoters because of lack of entries.

Bob Kuzava Hit on Jaw By Hard Line Drive

Braves Lose Protested Game at Fostoria; Dispute Home Run

Lefty Bob Kuzava, young Mansfield Braves hurler, is in a Fostoria hospital today after being knocked unconscious by a line drive that hit him in the jaw in last night's game between the Braves and Red Birds at Fostoria.

Hospital attendants said today they believed Kuzava has a broken jaw, but that they were awaiting the result of an X-ray examination made this morning.

His condition, they said, is fair.

* * *

The accident occurred early in the game as Kuzava was being touched for four runs in the first two frames by the Birds who went ahead to roll up an 8 to 3 decision.

* * *

The game was played under protest, however, the Braves claiming that a ball hit by Waters, Fostoria centerfielder, bounced over the fence, and under ground rules should not have been counted as a home run.

Umpire Bulmon ruled it a home run, and declared he did not see the ball bounce over.

Waters also added a double to the Fostoria attack, and Buckamier, new Red Bird shortstop, collected a single, double and triple in five trips.

* * *

Bob Ankrum paced the Braves with his 19th double of the season, and a single in four times at bat.

* * *

SEEK NEW CHAIRS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal. — (INS) — Lefthanded Stanford students consider themselves a suppressed minority. Handicapped because classroom chairs are equipped with arms on only the right side, the southpaw undergraduates, petitioned the Department of Grounds and Buildings for furniture that would permit them to take notes and examinations without holding their notebooks on their left knees or twisting themselves into awkward postures.

Redlegs Hit Their Stride

Win Game For Game With League Leading Dodgers.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—It's hard to believe, but the figures show that the "disappointing" Cincinnati Reds have won game for game as many contests as the red-hot league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers since mid-May.

* * *

That's why the five games the Reds and Dodgers play in next two weeks have a lot to do with deciding whether or not the American League champions will visit the banks of the Gowanus next October.

* * *

Brooklyn and Cincinnati now have played 74 games apiece, and each club has won 29 of its last 47. Last year at the same stage of the chase, Cincinnati had Brooklyn's present record of 50 won and 24 lost and gained 8½ games in the balance of the season.

The Redlegs need 11 games this year, and Brooklyn hasn't shown indications of slipping to the .500 ball it played the final half of the 1940 season.

* * *

After the three-game series at Brooklyn on Thursday, Friday and Saturday and two games here July 22 and 23, the rivals meet only five more times—all in the final five weeks of play. Brooklyn has won eight of 13 against the Reds so far.

* * *

The Reds appear to be hitting their stride, but unless they can put the skids under Brooklyn in the upcoming meetings, their stride isn't good enough.

Luck Aids Champ In Title Draw

Chance of Defending Golf Crown Improves.

AKRON—(AP)—Aided by the luck of the draw which bunched her more formidable rivals in the other bracket, defending Champion Janet Shock found the chances of retaining her Ohio State Women's golf title greatly improved today as the 22nd annual championship moved into the second round.

* * *

The slim Dayton Miss, who says she is improving with each day's play, flashed championship class in yesterday's first round warring as she rallied with a back-nine 39 to ward off the challenge of Mrs. Jake Searl of Akron, by a 1 up margin.

* * *

Spectator interest was almost completely centered in the upper bracket battles where the tournament medalist and betting favorite, Mrs. James R. Platt, jr., of Dayton, faced Martha Dakin, 20-year-old Miami University senior, and Dorothy Gardner, Steubenville beauty, opposed Neoma Copic of Toledo.

* * *

Now quoted in the tournament "pool" at even money, Mrs. Platt was carried all the way to the home hole before she could gain a 1 up verdict over Mary K. Browne of Cleveland, 1931 victor.

Miss Dakin hurdled Cleveland's Miss Dorothy Hicks to qualify as Mrs. Platt's second foe.

The Copic-Gardner clash loomed as the tournament's first "natural." Both have been playing sensational golf.

Miss Copic, a furnace company invoicer, posted an even par 38 on the out-going nine and defeated Mrs. Eva Shorb Weiskopf, the hard-hitting Massillon star, by the lop-sided margin of 6 to 5. Miss Gardner, doing an out-going 40, bested Mrs. M. E. Lewis of Cleveland every bit as handily, 7 to 6.

* * *

Mrs. Linton Fallis of Toledo and Miss Isabel Ogilvie of Cleveland are the other second bracket opponents.

* * *

The ringsiders see Miss Shock as capable of whipping through the second bracket and then humbling the battle-softened survivor of the top bracket in Friday's 36-hole finals. A victory would rank her with Louise Fordyce of Youngstown and Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati as the only three-time wearers of the crown.

Holds 32 Golf Course Records

Helen Detweiler, famous woman professional golfer who will conduct a clinic and appear in an exhibition match with Thelma Linster at Possum Run golf course Friday, now holds 32 course records.

* * *

S..e won the women's western open title in 1939, holds the Aiken, South Carolina invitational championship and the Augusta Open title and has won the Maryland State, District of Columbia, and Middle Atlantic championships several times.

* * *

The clinic at 1 p. m., and the exhibition match to follow, are free and open to the public. At noon Miss Detweiler will have luncheon at Possum Run with the women members of the club.

Teams Tied In Golf Loop

Long Bar and Sloans Pace A-League Race.

Long Bar and Sloan's Drugs are tied today for first place in the News-Journal A league golf race at Possum Run, just one point ahead of the third place Barnes & Schmid team.

* * *

Sloans defeated the Yuncker Sports 3 to 2 yesterday, while Long Bar was dropping a 2 to 3 decision to Cairn's Hardware, and Barnes & Schmid was being smothered 4 to 1 by Richland Printing. In the other league match Greystone Nite club defeated Andregg Billiards 3 to 2.

* * *

Joe Mayer for forced to go one extra hole to defeat Pete Linster as each carded two-under-par 34's for the regulation distance.

Al Hager broke par with a 35, while par shooters at 36 were C. Snyder and Adam Brandt.

Zuppke Battle Goes On

Illini Coaching Muddle To Be Cleared Soon.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The battle goes on and on over whether the University of Illinois should fire or retain sharp-tongued Bob Zuppke, the school's football coach since 1913.

The verbal contest has been in progress for three years, but the board of trustees has indicated it would clear up the muddled athletic situation at a meeting early next week.

* * *

Close observers point to four possible decisions by the trustees: (1) fire Zuppke and Athletic Director Wendell L. Wilson; (2) retain both for another year; (3) fire Wilson and retain Zuppke; (4) fire Zuppke and retain Wilson.

* * *

A group of former Illinois grid stars, headed by Red Grange, rallied to Zuppke's support yesterday, their action backing up the Chicago Illini club's endorsement of the veteran football coach.

The former athletes asserted in a statement that dismissal of Zuppke would not remedy the athletic situation and added that such action would "probably result in the most unfavorable publicity the university has ever received."

Zuppke recently said he would be satisfied to quit at the age of 65, which would give him three more years as coach.

* * *

Grange and his group added that Zuppke should be given the "loyal and unqualified support of the athletic department and that he be given the privilege of completing his service to the university under most favorable circumstances.

* * *

The signers of this statement included Grange, George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, and George Huff, jr., son of the late athletic director who hired Zuppke as coach.

SET TRAINING DATE

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Rams' National league football team will open training Aug. 11 at Baldwin-Wallace college in nearby Berea, Coach Dutch Clark announced today. The Rams open their season Sept. 3 in the annual game against the College All-Stars. League play opens four days later against Pittsburgh.

Kansas City Fades In Flag Chase

(By Associated Press)

Kansas City's current slump on the road is turning the American Association flag chase into a three team battle.

* * *

The Blues slid three games back of first place while in the west, and are dropping further back on their 11-game invasion of the eastern half of the circuit.

* * *

Louisville outlasted the Blues last night, 8 to 7, this being Kansas City's third loss in four games on the trip. League-leading Minneapolis and third-place Columbus likewise won. Thus the Blues are two games behind Columbus, three behind Louisville and four behind the flying Millers.

* * *

Minneapolis rolled out its highly effective home run attack in whipping Toledo, 4 to 2. Columbus uncorked a terrific attack for the second straight night, beating St. Paul by 13 to 3, same margin of their Monday triumph over Minneapolis.

* * *

Little Glenn Fletcher pitched Indianapolis to a six-hit, 5 to 0 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

THEATERS

Held Over.

"In the Navy," the hilarious comedy at the Ohio with Bud Abbott, Lou Costello and Dick Powell has been held over through Friday due to popular demand. Boisterous comedy, lively music and a cast that spells first rate entertainment distinguish the production. The Andrews Sisters, one of the chief attractions, have been hailed as the miracle girls in show business. Only a few years age they were pleading for any kind of theatrical work. Today they are among the biggest drawing cards in radio and pictures.

* * *

Lubitsch Directs.

"That Uncertain Feeling," the Ernst Lubitsch comedy starring Merle Oberon and Melvyn Douglas at the Madison, has the light Lubitsch touch but it also has assault and battery. Practically everybody in the cast gets socked before happiness is restored to a blissfully married couple played by Miss Oberon and Douglas. Alan Mowbray is cast as the psychoanalyst who almost wrecks things, and Burgess Meredith plays a wild-haired pianist, who adds to the punishment. Two murders are solved in "Nurse's Secret," mystery drama, the second attraction with Lee Patrick and Regis Toomey.

* * *

Outdoor Romance.

An outdoor romance topped off by gun-blazing action motivates "The Round Up," western thriller with Richard Dix, showing at the Ritz. Patricia Morison plays opposite Dix and the cast includes Preston Foster, Ruth Donnelly, bands of Apaches and western music makers. The intrigue starts when Foster ties up with a band of gun-runners who have been supplying the Indians with firearms. Like in every tried and true western there's a battle to the death at the edge of a cliff. When a wealthy girl tries to keep her riches a secret from a poor young man there's complications according to the plot in "Here Comes Happiness," the second feature.

* * *

Domestic Comedy.

Carole Lombard and Robert Montgomery will spread gaiety across the Park screen beginning Thursday in their comedy-drama, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith." Story of a Park avenue lawyer and his wife the play has its setting against an ultra-modern background in New York and Lake Placid. Entrance of Gene Raymond, the husband's legal partner, into the romantic scene starts a series of "triangle" episodes that is fun for the audience and grief for the players. Philip Merivale and Jack Carson are in the cast.

SYNOPSIS

Doris Newton, blond, blue-eyed and 18, and Bonnie Dutton, her roommate at Mrs. Ames' boarding house sell stockings in the basement of Klane's Detroit department store. They have a hard time making ends meet and Bonnie finally decides to marry Donald Drane, although she does not love him. He is a mechanic making good wages and she is tired of the sameness of a salesgirl's life. Roy Johnston is Doris's only boy friend and he begrudges her the evenings she stays at home to read and improve herself. The day Bonnie announces that in just one month she and Don are to marry, Roy takes Doris to lunch to tell her that he has had a good raise. He says they can be married now and can't understand her refusal and her explanation that she must love the man she marries. That night she finds a letter at Mrs. Ames' containing a check for $5,000, first prize in a canned milk slogan contest. Her first thought is that now she can save Bonnie from a loveless marriage. But Bonnie says she wants security when Doris unfolds her plans. She is going to spend the $5,000 on a trip to South America. To Doris this means freedom, adventure, romance. At a travel agency she books passage on a luxury liner sailing from New York in two weeks and spends the intervening time laying in a complete wardrobe. She shares a comfortable cabin with Eva Pringle, a school teacher, and likes her at once. Time passes dully until the second day. During a fire drill, a handsome young man helps her with her life preserver, then asks her to have cocktails with him before dinner.

CHAPTER III

Doris examined the evening gowns in the tiny wardrobe with a critical eye.

"Which one do you like best?"

"The white chiffon," Miss Pringle said cheerfully. "I noticed it last night."

Doris drew out the diaphanous gown and laid it on the bed.

"With all these lovely clothes, I would have to go on deck this afternoon in lounging pajamas."

"Apparently it made no difference," Miss Pringle reminded her, "since he asked you to have cocktails with him."

Doris slipped the white chiffon over her head and surveyed herself in the mirror. Her blond hair hung like a soft cloud to her shoulders, her eyes seemed larger and bluer than usual. She added a touch of vivid red to her lips.

"All right?" she asked anxiously.

Miss Pringle smiled at the naive concern in her voice. "You are lovely," she declared, "but you've forgotten your shoes."

"I'm so excited I don't know what I'm doing," Doris laughed, reaching for the high-heeled silver slippers.

She had no jewels but she needed none with the simplicity of the white dress, the shining blond hair and the glowing radiance of nineteen. More than one admiring glance was turned her way as she walked through the lounge, but Doris did not notice.

He was waiting for her. He looked older and more sophisticated in his dinner clothes.

"You're beautiful," he said with disconcerting frankness.

He gave their order to the steward, lit a cigaret, and leaned forward boyishly, saying, "After I let you go this afternoon I realized I didn't even know your name."

She told him, adding, "Names aren't important, are they?"

A look she could not fathom came into his eyes, "Perhaps not! But we shall have to call each other something. I'm Jimmy Allen from Chicago."

The steward brought the cocktails.

Jimmy lifted his glass. "Now that we've been properly introduced, let's drink a toast."

"A toast?" she repeated. "To what?"

"To our voyage," he suggested, touching his glass to hers.

Miss Pringle's warning rang in her ears: "One must not take a shipboard romance too seriously." But in her heart Doris knew that this man would mean more to her than that. This would never be just a shipboard romance as far as she was concerned.

"Tell me something about yourself," he urged. "Where do you live? Why are you going to South America?"

"I live in Detroit, and I'm going to South America because I won first prize in a contest."

"Then this is your first trip?"

"Yes, and probably my last."

He smiled. "Maybe you'll have such a good time you'll want to take another."

"Oh, it isn't a matter of wanting to." She paused, then added impulsively, "You see I'm a working girl."

"You don't look like a career woman."

"Oh I'm not. I'm just a plain working girl. I sell stockings in a department store basement." She spoke frankly because it seemed important that he should understand.

He put down his glass. "You mean you quit your job and spent all the money you won to come on this trip?"

"That's right. Every cent of it."

"Why, you crazy kid!" He laughed but his eyes were warm with admiration.

"Everyone tells me that, but I figure that I'll have something grand to remember."

"Has life been so bad?"

"Not bad, but lonely. My mother is dead and my father, well, he's been gone for 18 years."

* * *

It seemed perfectly natural for her to confide in him. Already the subtle intimacy of shipboard companionship was creeping over them. The outside world seemed far away. This was a little private world, a world surrounded by water, cut off from all reality, save that of the moment.

"We've only eleven days," Jimmy reminded her, "but I promise to do everything I can to make this a trip you'll remember. We'll have fun. We'll pack every minute to the brim . . ."

She lifted grateful eyes to his. He understood! He knew how much this brief flight from everyday existence meant to her! She felt his sympathy like a warm hand over hers.

The dinner gong shattered the silence.

Jimmy tucked her arm through his as they walked to the dining salon. "I'll meet you after dinner," he promised.

That evening they danced and he held her very close and she felt his unspoken tenderness . . . "a trip you'll remember." His words came back to her many times. Times when they walked the deck arm in arm. Times when they leaned against the rail and watched the tropical sunset spreading rainbows of color across the sky.

"I didn't know anything could be so beautiful," Doris sighed.

He smiled at her eagerness. "Wait until you see the harbor at Rio. It's the loveliest sight in the world."

His manner was perfect. He was courteous and charming, always considerate, but underneath this Doris felt a more personal interest. One night as they lingered by the rail he took her hand, but as she lifted her shining eyes to his a voice behind them spoiled the moment.

They turned to see a heavy-set man with strangely insolent gray eyes. "Could I trouble you for a match?"

As Jimmy handed him a package the gray eyes rested upon Doris. "Aren't you the girl who won a radio contest"

She started. "Yes, but how did you know?"

"Everything is news on board ship," his voice was tinged with irony and Doris felt afraid for a reason she could not understand or explain. But she had nothing to hide. Why should the smooth insolence of this man upset her?

Jimmy took her arm. "I think we'll go in, if you'll excuse us?"

The man bowed but Doris could feel his eyes following them as they went into the lounge.

"I don't like him," Jimmy said bluntly.

"Neither do I," Doris admitted.

"There's something queer about him," Jimmy insisted. He spoke to one of the stewards who was serving the sandwiches. "Do you know who that gray-haired man is?"

"Yes, sir! That's Mr. George Malone from Detroit."

"Detroit?" Doris echoed.

"Ever hear of him?" Jimmy asked.

"Never. We're probably imagining things."

"If he bothers you," Jimmy said, "just let me know."

The protective note in his voice thrilled her.

"A lot of funny things happen on ships."

"I know. I've been warned," Doris said.

He turned his stormy blue eyes upon her. "Against me?"

"No, of course not," Doris said smiling. Those eyes of his were unfathomable. They could be so tender, and yet at moments, so hard. In the brief course of their acquaintance she had seen many expressions cross that handsome face. He had told her that he was twenty-six, but there were times when he looked ten years older than that.

"Let's go up on the boat deck," Jimmy suggested.

* * *

Music drifted up from below. Above them millions of stars trembled, across the black water they could see the lights of another ship outlined against the horizon. Jimmy tossed his cigaret overboard and they watched it fall like a tiny red flare. The silence was enchanting.

"Ships are good places to think," Jimmy remarked.

"And to forget," Doris added. Her former life seemed to be entirely blotted out. All those years of toil and heartache . . . It seemed that she had always been on this ship, that she had always known this tall sleek-headed man who stood beside her.

"To forget," Jimmy repeated. "Strange that you should say that . . ."

"But it's true," she insisted. "Everything else seems past, over and done with, except this trip."

"Do you think the past can stay forgotten?" he asked seriously. "Can you pretend that there is no past—and no future—only this trip, these few days?"

Doris lifted her eyes to his and for one tremulous moment they did not speak.

Then she was in his arms, and she felt his mouth, hard and sweet over hers . . .

Gives Warning on Careless Disposal Of Cigaret Stubs

Seeburger said that he was making the announcement because of two Monday afternoon fires caused by persons throwing cigarets out windows onto awnings.

Firemen were called out to check a blaze in the awning in the window of City Auditor Paul L. Kelley's office and later to extinguish a similar blaze on Park avenue west.

SERVICE HELD

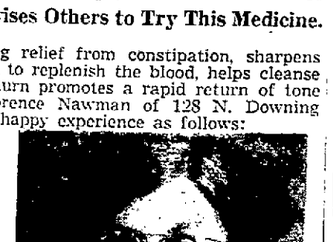
TORTURES OF NERVOUS INDIGESTION SOON RELIEVED BY JOLO

Piqua Resident, After Continued Suffering from Acid Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Gas, Cramps, and Other Troubles Due to Constipation, Advises Others to Try This Medicine.

Jolo gives the most satisfying relief from constipation, sharpens the appetite for wholesome food to replenish the blood, helps cleanse the body of wastes which in return promotes a rapid return of tone throughout the body. Mrs. Florence Nawman of 128 N. Downing street, Piqua, Ohio, tells of her happy experience as follows:



MRS. FLORENCE NAWMAN

"I was a constant sufferer from constipation which often caused acid indigestion, and most everything I ate seemed to sour in my stomach, bloat me with gas and made me feel as though I had a lump in my throat which I couldn't get rid of. My breath would be so short and nerves so quivery I couldn't half sleep, I was so uncomfortable. My nerves were so unstrung it seemed that even the radio programs bothered me.

Jolo helped me by giving the grandest relief from constipation, so that all the other troubles caused by or due to constipation soon disappeared. Jolo gave me more energy and built me up so I feel like a new person, and after what Jolo did for me I believe it will do for everyone suffering as I did."

DON'T

Buy a Used Car Now . . .

. . . unless you want to pay more later. The curtailment of new car production will necessarily bring about an acute shortage of used cars and prices will sky-rocket. Don't buy now unless you want to save money.

DON'T

Buy at "Mud's" . . .

. . . unless you want a really good used car for your money. The tremendous sales of the new Buick have brought in a fine selection of late model used cars. Every one has been shop and road checked and put in the very best of condition. Every one over $100 carries "Mud's" written guarantee. DON'T stop in at our Big Used Car Lot unless you expect to see cars that are better than any in town.

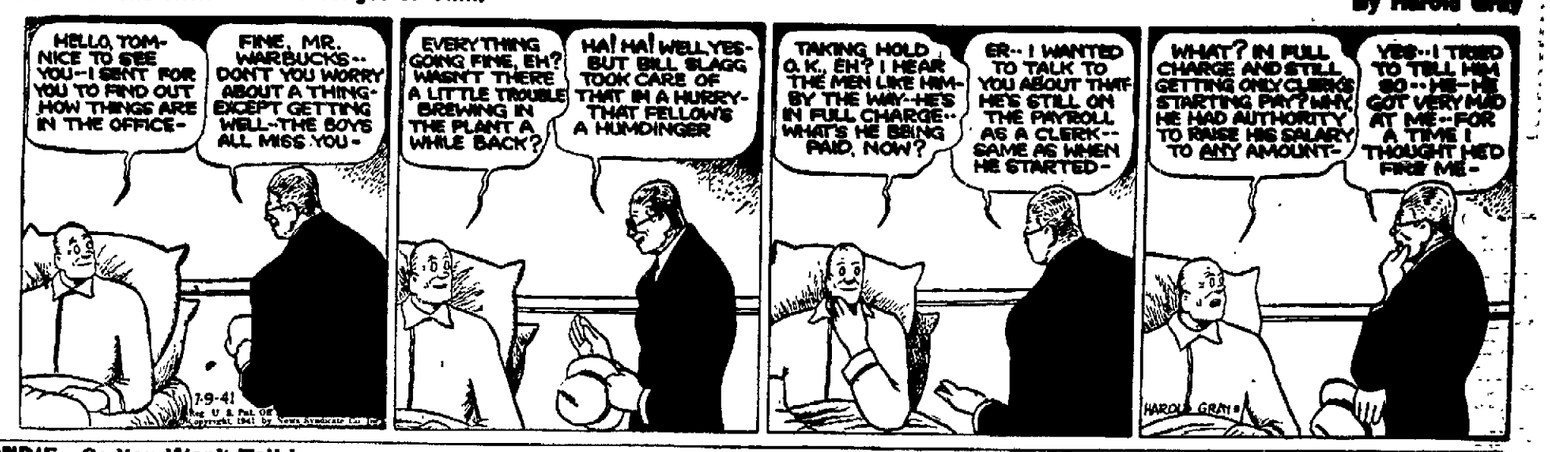
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—The Wages of Thin.

By Harold Gray



HELLO, TOM-NICE TO SEE YOU--I SENT FOR YOU TO FIND OUT HOW THINGS ARE IN THE OFFICE-
FINE, MR. WARBUCKS-- DON'T YOU WORRY ABOUT A THING-EXCEPT GETTING WELL--THE BOYS ALL MISS YOU-
7-9-41
EVERYTHING GOING FINE, EH? WASN'T THERE A LITTLE TROUBLE BREWING IN THE PLANT A WHILE BACK?
HA! HA! WELL, YES-BUT BILL SLAGG TOOK CARE OF THAT IN A HURRY-THAT FELLOW'S A HUMDINGER
TAKING HOLD O.K., EH? I HEAR THE MEN LIKE HIM-BY THE WAY--HE'S IN FULL CHARGE-- WHAT'S HE BEING PAID, NOW?
ER-- I WANTED TO TALK TO YOU ABOUT THAT-HE'S STILL ON THE PAYROLL AS A CLERK-- SAME AS WHEN HE STARTED-
WHAT? IN FULL CHARGE AND STILL GETTING ONLY CLERK'S STARTING PAY? WHY, HE HAD AUTHORITY TO RAISE HIS SALARY TO ANY AMOUNT-
YES--I TRIED TO TELL HIM SO--HE--HE GOT VERY MAD AT ME--FOR A TIME I THOUGHT HE'D FIRE ME-

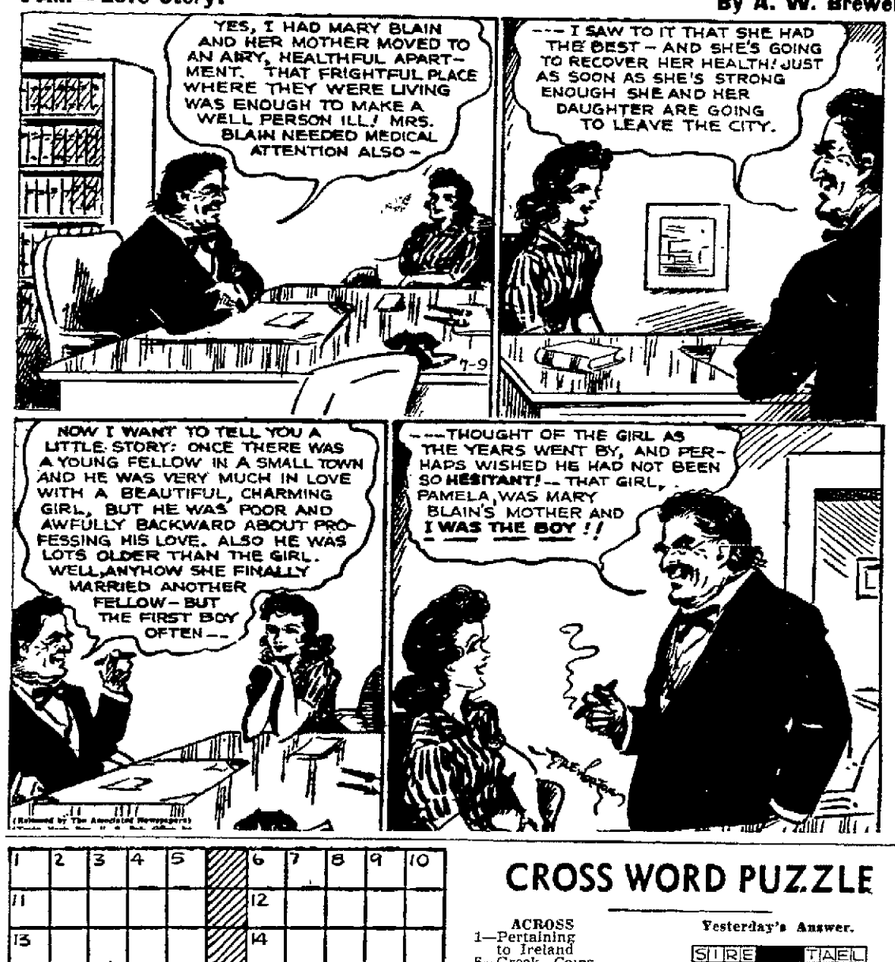
PAM—Love Story!

By A. W. Brewerton



YES, I HAD MARY BLAIN AND HER MOTHER MOVED TO AN AIRY, HEALTHFUL APARTMENT. THAT FRIGHTFUL PLACE WHERE THEY WERE LIVING WAS ENOUGH TO MAKE A WELL PERSON ILL! MRS. BLAIN NEEDED MEDICAL ATTENTION ALSO-
--- I SAW TO IT THAT SHE HAD THE BEST - AND SHE'S GOING TO RECOVER HER HEALTH! JUST AS SOON AS SHE'S STRONG ENOUGH SHE AND HER DAUGHTER ARE GOING TO LEAVE THE CITY.
NOW I WANT TO TELL YOU A LITTLE STORY: ONCE THERE WAS A YOUNG FELLOW IN A SMALL TOWN AND HE WAS VERY MUCH IN LOVE WITH A BEAUTIFUL, CHARMING GIRL, BUT HE WAS POOR AND AWFULLY BACKWARD ABOUT PROFESSING HIS LOVE. ALSO HE WAS LOTS OLDER THAN THE GIRL. WELL, ANYHOW SHE FINALLY MARRIED ANOTHER FELLOW - BUT THE FIRST BOY OFTEN-- ---THOUGHT OF THE GIRL AS THE YEARS WENT BY, AND PERHAPS WISHED HE HAD NOT BEEN SO HESITANT! -- THAT GIRL, PAMELA, WAS MARY BLAIN'S MOTHER AND I WAS THE BOY!!

THE NEBBS—Pleased to Meet You?

By Sol Hess

HELLO, GORGEOUS, YOU CERTAINLY ARE FOOD FOR HUNGRY EYES
YES?
IM GOING TO INVITE MYSELF TO PAL AROUND WITH YOU WHILE I'M HERE. WON'T THAT BE KEEN?
YES?
I HAVEN'T JUST MADE UP MY MIND IF I WANT TO TAKE CARE OF A SPOILED CHILD - I DETEST NURSING. WHY DON'T YOU GO BACK TO MOMMY AND START WITH FACE TAG AND BEAN BAG. IT'S A RIOTOUS GAME! AND END UP WITH BRICK BRADFORD—On the Throne of Titania.

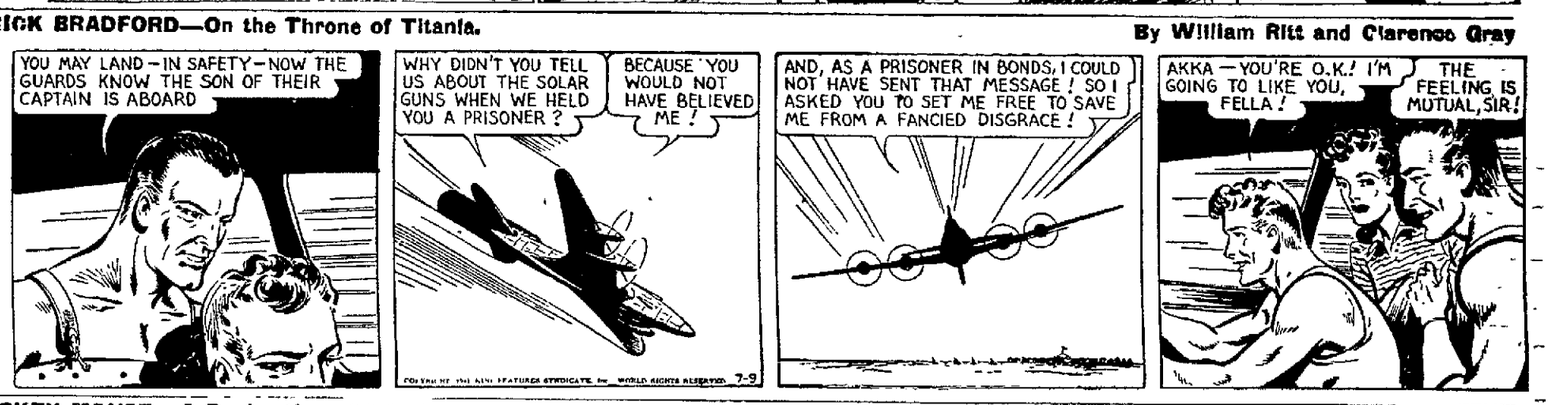
By William Ritt and Clarence Gray



YOU MAY LAND - IN SAFETY - NOW THE GUARDS KNOW THE SON OF THEIR CAPTAIN IS ABOARD
WHY DIDN'T YOU TELL US ABOUT THE SOLAR GUNS WHEN WE HELD YOU A PRISONER?
BECAUSE YOU WOULD NOT HAVE BELIEVED ME!
AND, AS A PRISONER IN BONDS, I COULD NOT HAVE SENT THAT MESSAGE! SO I ASKED YOU TO SET ME FREE TO SAVE ME FROM A FANCIED DISGRACE!
AKKA - YOU'RE O.K.! I'M GOING TO LIKE YOU, FELLA!
THE FEELING IS MUTUAL, SIR!

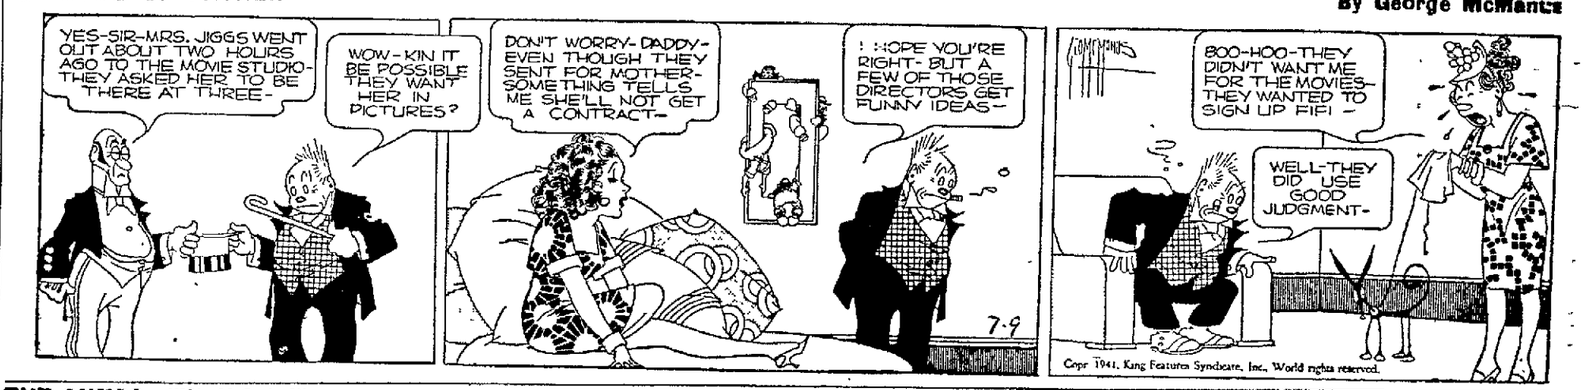
MICKEY MOUSE—A Declaration of War!

By Walt Disney

CLARABELLE, DO YOU KNOW WHAT I'VE DECIDED ABOUT MICKEY?
LAND SAKES, NO! ARE YOU STILL TRYIN' TO KEEP THAT WILD INDIAN ON THE RESERVATION?
YES, I AM! AND THE REASON I'VE FAILED BEFORE WAS THAT I USED THE WRONG TACTICS ...HE'S SUCH A STUBBORN MULE!
YOU'RE TELLING ME! BUT WHAT'S THE ANSWER?
LISTEN.. BUT DON'T TELL A SOUL...BUZZ-Z-Z-Z... BZZ-Z-Z-Z ...!
GOOD LAND!
PSYCHOLOGY, MY DEAR... AND PROPAGANDA... TODAY'S MODERN WEAPONS!

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By George McManus



YES-SIR-MRS. JIGGS WENT OUT ABOUT TWO HOURS AGO TO THE MOVIE STUDIO-THEY ASKED HER TO BE THERE AT THREE-
WOW-KIN IT BE POSSIBLE THEY WANT HER IN PICTURES?
DON'T WORRY-DADDY-EVEN THOUGH THEY SENT FOR MOTHER-SOMETHING TELLS ME SHE'LL NOT GET A CONTRACT-
I HOPE YOU'RE RIGHT- BUT A FEW OF THOSE DIRECTORS GET FUNNY IDEAS-
800-HOO-THEY DIDN'T WANT ME FOR THE MOVIES- THEY WANTED TO SIGN UP FIFI -
WELL-THEY DID USE GOOD JUDGMENT-

TRIGGER, THIS CAMERA WE FOUND IN A DRESSER, DRAWER IN YOUR ROOM IS YOUR CAMERA, ISN'T IT?
CERTAINLY! IS IT AGAINST THE LAW FOR A MAN TO OWN A CAMERA?
NOW, THIS SNAPSHOT OF THE KOSIK HOTEL WITH A PENCIL LINE DRAWN AROUND CZAR RENNIS' ROOM WAS TAKEN BY YOU WITH THIS CAMERA, WASN'T IT?
YOU'RE CRAZY! I NEVER TOOK A PICTURE OF THE KOSIK HOTEL IN MY LIFE.
YOU'RE THE ONE WHO'S CRAZY, TRIGGER, FOR TRYING TO MAKE US BELIEVE THAT.
I'M GOING TO PROVE THIS PHOTOGRAPH WAS SNAPPED FROM YOUR ROOM BY YOU, USING YOUR CAMERA! CALL JONES, THE ARCHITECT, PAT.
ALL RIGHT, TRACY!

BUGLER SLEEPS

BELLEVILLE, Ill.—(U.P.)—Since Scott Field, army training base for aviators installed a loudspeaker system, the bugler gets a rest.

Instead of the "old-fashioned" method of arousing the men with a bugler, a corporal of the guard turns on a phonograph record at 6:25. The same method is used for taps at 11 p. m.

Even at retreat, when the 7,500 men line up for flag lowering, a record provides the music!

In 1940 approximately 35,000 persons were killed in traffic accidents and 1,320,000 were injured; the latter figure the greatest list in American history.

STOCKS EXHIBIT FURTHER TREND TOWARD RISE

Moscow Claims, Position of Auto Industry Attract Market Interest.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Stocks exhibited further recovery power in today's market. Many issues favored in the rise Monday and Tuesday edged up to new high levels for the July rally. An active opening indicated a considerable overnight accumulation of buying orders but the trading pace slowed near the second hour.

Evidence of a widened interest on the part of bidders was associated with the market's show of animation after several months of inertia. Claims by Moscow that the German forces had been thrown back at some strategic points also aided speculative sentiment.

Attracting attention in Wall Street boardrooms were sharply divergent appraisals of the automobile industry's position. Favorable side of the discussion concerned distribution of 1941 models which, for the industry as a whole, was estimated to have topped the best previous selling seasons.

Less comforting to holders of motor shares, however, was a reminder from Detroit that car makers would feel the real impact of the defense program at the close of this year's model season about three weeks hence.
